Pennmarva Young Cooperators Chosen

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — Outstanding young farmer-members were honored last week by three regional dairy cooperatives as the finals of the Pennmarva Federation's Young Cooperator Program, March 23 and 24 at Willow Valley Resort and Conference Center.

Highlight of the annual conference of education and fellowship was the naming of Young Cooperator winners by federation members Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, Southampton, Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers, Reston, Virginia and the Middle Atlantic Division, Dairymen, Inc., Sykesville, Maryland.

Atlantic Dairy Coooperative

John and Julie Mayer, Taneytown, Maryland, were named the outstanding young cooperators for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. They are the sole owners and decision makers at their Stony Point Farm, which includes 145 Holstein, Brown Swiss and Jersey cattle and 279 acres in corn, barley, hay and pasture. Herd average on the Holsteins is 20,204 milk and 711 fat, while the colored breeds average 13,950 milk and 652 fat.

Delaware, Mid-East Merge, DHIAs Change Nationwide

COLUMBUS, Ohio — There have been a number of mergers and realignments of dairy herd improvement associations across the nation in recent months as changes in national rules and fees have opened up a number of options, and, at the same time, have forced some isolated herds to seek out new alliances in order to decrease and spread out costs.

According to Phil Dukas, CEO of National DHIA, the reorganization of DHIA on a wide-scale basis is the result of trends in the dairy industry and the wide use of electronic data gathering and transmission.

With the use of computers and telephone line links, geographical boundaries are no longer the deter-

Conservation Learned At Early Age On Feidt Farm

MILLERSBURG (Dauphin Co.) — When 3½ -year-old Jordy Feidt entered the tiestall barn, he looked back quickly at his grandma, Deloris Feidt, and said, "Grammy, cows!"

Jordy knew what to do, and asked to "scoop poop," picking up the shovel and pushing the manure off the floor into the alley scraper.

It didn't take long before Jordy's 1½ -year-old brother Nicholas saw what Jordy was doing and decided to pick up some grain and begin feeding the cows — something he has been doing from an "early" age, according to his mother, Teresa.

Teresa, husband David and David's father, Eugene and wife Deloris know the importance of teaching the children early on about what is important to dairying. Along with knowing how to care for cattle, already the sons know that other work is just as important, also, especially in light of approaching planting season.

For education and compliance with conservation techniques early on, the Feidts — including Nick's father David and grandparents Eugene and Deloris — were recently honored as the Dauphin County Conservation Farmers of the Year. Photo by Andy Andrews

Poultry Progress Day Addresses Industry's Concerns

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) will have long-term positive effects on the poultry industry, according to Dr. Milt Madison of the USDA.

Madison spoke to about 200 persons who attended Poultry Progress Day at the Farm and Home Center on Thursday. He said that after a two- to three-year of short-term negative effect from restrictive quotos that are gradually relaxed, they should expect a four to six percent increase in products. The downside of the trade agreements is that poultry feed may increase in cost because of grain exports.

The annual event is a day for Lancaster County Poultry Association members to find out what's new in the poultry industry, examine government regulations, costs, disease control, and other aspects that affect the industry.

For those who could not attend the Southeast Poultry Show, Dr. Paul Patterson of the Penn State poultry science department reported on strides in development of equipment to make the producer's job easier. One of these is a new device to toe-trim turkey poults so they don't scratch each other. It is actually a microwave that zaps the turkey toes as they are being vaccinated. The toenail drops off within a 7- to 10-day period with no pain and side effects and considerably less labor involved in the process.

For meat type birds, Patterson said there is a new cage system in the works in which the birds are caged and the droppings are disposed by conveyor belt. When the birds are ready to market, the bottom drops down, and the birds get a free ride on the conveyor belt to the loading truck.

For pennies, new products can be added to feed to keep the birds' acid levels stable and reduce the risk of bacterial that increases the risk of food poisoning. Patterson said that these products will not be mandated but will appeal to the

Daylight-Saving Time Starts Sunday

The time to push the clocks forward one hour has come. Daylight-saving time officially starts at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, April 3. While many people can simply make the clock adjustment on Saturday night before retiring, dairy farmers will need to change their milking and feeding schedules more gradually. Numerous cows now give more than 100 pounds of milk per day, and a slow change in milking schedule is necessary for both cow comfort and the maintenance of top production.

Prices are lower on light type fowl while sales are too few to report on heavy hens in early week negotiations. Availability of leghorns continue fully adequate to ample and most processing schedules are booked into next month. Offerings of heavy hens are slow to surface, forcing most users to rely on contractual birds to satisfy requirements. Demand moderate at best. Undertone barely steady to weak.

NATIONAL EGG MARKET-AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged to lower on all sizes in the Northeast, and on mediums in the Midwest; prices were unchanged on the balance. The market tone was about steady to weak, and cautious in all areas. Demand was fair to very good as holiday purchasing continued, and retail specials enhanced movement. Supplies were adequate to fully adequate or available. Breaking stock supplies were fully adequate for the unaggressive demand, and the undertone was barely steady. Live hen markets were steady at best, and offerings were adequate to ample for the very light to fair demand.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, March 30, 1994

Trucklot buying interest was light for immediate needs but about as expected. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts in trucklot volumes were readily available and traded at lower prices while smaller volumes were at least adequate and traded mostly at 1.80. The trade sentiment was weak for immediate but rated as fully steady to firm for next week. Line run breasts were available but most buyers were full until at least next Tuesday. Drumsticks continued to be burdensome with shippers asking sharply lower prices, other dark meat items were adequate. Wings were also burdensome, prices trended lower, and the undertone was weak.

Wednesday, March 30, 1994

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to fair. Seller offerings remained fully adequate for immediate needs. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were mixed in a full range and mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules continued very heavy. Most plants were set to close this Friday or the following Monday. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 50 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was about steady. In the parts complex, bone-in breasts were not as available as past few days. Other items were at least adequate, especially boneless skinless breasts and wings which remained slow to clear.

COUNTRY FEEDS. from Agway: DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE

And what makes new Country Feeds• different from other premium horse feeds?

For starters, we use only first-quality grains and ingredients, like those you see here in our textured feed. Crimped oats, rolled corn, well-balanced nutrient pellets and NutraMax Plus* molasses for extra energy and nutrition. You'll also find the same quality in our pelleted, extruded and complete feeds.

Second, a choice of protein levels allows you to balance your horse's ration according to its lifestyle and the quality of your forage.

However, the biggest difference is our freshness. Every bag is stamped with a "Best if used by" date before it leaves the mill, so that you are assured that it is the freshest available.

Consistently superior, consistently fresh, bag after bag, feeding after feeding. Unconditionally guaranteed.

But don't take our word for it. Stop by your Agway store and see for yourself the difference quality makes — in a feed and in your horse.

A DIFFERENCE YOU CAN SEE HERE

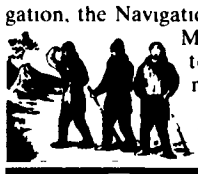
The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC — THIS WEEK WITH

APRIL 4-10, 1994

WORLD HEALTH DAY, APRIL 7.

NINETY DEGREES NORTH

Eighty-five years ago on April 6, 1909, Robert E. Peary and his small band of Arctic explorers finally became the first men to reach the North Pole. Or did they? For over eighty years controversy has surrounded Peary's claim Upon returning from the Pole, Peary learned that Dr Frederick Cook (who served as physician on one of Peary's Greenland expeditions) claimed to have reached the Pole in April 1908. Although Cook's claim was finally discounted by most authorities, critics continued to question whether Peary actually reached the Pole — some felt he may have missed it by as much as 60 miles In December 1989, after exhaustive investigation, the Navigation Foundation concluded that "Peary, Matt Henson, and the four Eskimos went to the Pole together, just as they all maintained for the rest of their lives."



Life is adventure in experience.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Add vinegar to the final rinse cycle to remove soap residue and soften laundry.

EARTHWISE

Thanks to educated consumers, most laundry products have reduced or eliminated phosphates, but many still have other harmful ingredients Most laundry soaps are actually petroleum-based detergents rather than vegetable-oil-based soaps. Your favorite laundry aid may also contain optical brighteners (nonbiodegradeable fluorescent chemicals to make whites appear whiter), synthetic preservatives, and artificial fragrances Shop around You can get your clothes clean without subjecting your family or the environment to questionable chemicals.

CUCUMBERS IN SOUR CREAM

- 2 large cucumbers, peeled and thinly sliced
- ½ cup sour cream
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt

OPINION

The Prophet's Easter Story

WHO hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed from not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their inquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors. Isaiah 53

To Work Horses With Care

This wet spring has not allowed us to break horses in slowly for fieldwork. Thus, it becomes very important to take it easy with workhorses the first couple of days when spring fieldwork begins.

Give your horses a break periodically and do not make the work day too long for a given work horse.

Elmer Lapp, Lancaster County horseman, offers these additional tips:

- Wash neck and shoulders of your horses every evening.
- Make sure collars and haines fit properly.
- Have your single and double trees as wide as possible to prevent rubbing sores on the horses' legs.
- Use tick face collars or use pads with leather collars to prevent sores.
- Reduce the amount of corn in the diet. Feed oats, bran, and lots of hay instead.

By properly taking care of your horses and ensuring their comfort, you will receive better performance while keeping healthy and alive horses.

To Teach Children About Dogs

Dogs make great pets and are man's best friend. However, dogs do pose a safety risk, especially with children.

Seventy percent of fatal dog bites occurred to children less than 10 years old. By teaching children some basic safety rules, we may minimize dog bites.

Teach children from an early age not to be cruel to, poke at, or tease dogs. Never leave a child alone with a dog. Teach children to respect dogs during dog activities such as eating, drinking, or playing.

Never approach or attempt to play with a strange dog. Keep children away from sick or injured dogs and female dogs with litters.

Finally, insert yourself between a child and a dog when the situation appears dangerous, such as when a child is harassing the dog.

To Check Milk Replacer For Calves

Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, raises the question, "Do the milk replacers you are feeding to your calves provide enough nutrients for rapid growth?"

According to Shirk, this depends on the kind and amount fed. For calves to consume as many nutrients as they would from a feeding of whole milk, it may be necessary to increase the recommended feeding rates of some replacers by 50 percent.

To determine the amount you need to feed, calculate the amount of nutrients your calf would consume when fed whole milk. A calf's whole milk requirements is approximately 10 percent of its body weight. Compare this to the nutrient analysis and dilution rate on the feed tag of the milk replacer.

Also, for best results, choose replacers that are made from milk-based products and contain at least 20 percent protein and 20 percent fat.

Young calves sometimes have difficulty digesting soy based products and may develop scours. Remember, as calves develop in size, increase feeding rates accordingly.

Feather Prof's Footnote: "To attain the best from people, chose to think and believe the best about them."

WHERE IS YOUR DESTINY?
April 3, 1994

Background Scripture:
Mark 16:1-8; Romans 8:12-27
Devotional Reading:
Luke 24:1-11

Someone has said that "Easter is nothing more than wishful longing for pie-in-the-sky by-and-by." Perhaps that's what it is for some people, but for many of us it is a lot more.

For some of us, Easter is primarily the celebration of a monumental event in the past: Jesus Christ resurrected from the tomb almost two thousand years ago. Without a doubt, Easter is that — all history turns on that single event — but it is also much more.

For others, Easter is seen as essentially the promise of a future deliverance for Christ's followers: as he was victorious over the grave, so shall we be. And Easter is that, too — all our hopes and fears turn on that assurance — but it is still much more.

For still others, Easter is the reality that helps us to meet the challenge of the present moment: the resurrection and eternal life can be experienced now as well as then. Surely, Easter is that, too — without that power daily life would crush us and we would emerge as victims instead of victors.

ALL OF THE ABOVE

Actually, Easter is all of the above. Because of Christ's victory over the grave two thousand years ago, you and I trust in our own survival of death some time in the future. And, because of that future assurance of victory, we can live victoriously in the present moment. No, it is not just ancient history or pie-in-the-sky, but power for the present — so long as we understand what it means for us: human destiny lies, not in the material world, but in the realm of the spirit.

Now the importance of that statement lies in the fact that most of us do not live as if that is true. To the contrary, we live as if our destiny is to be found in the material world, nowhere else. We find our security, our pleasure, our success in material things. We treat the physical body as if it is the chief vehicle of our selfhood. But if life has any message for us it is that the physical, material realities of life are the one thing we can count on losing. And the one thing that lives beyond the veil of death is that which is of the Spirit. As Paul says to the Romans, "So then, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh — for if you live according to the flresh you will die, but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body you will live" (8:12).

BY THE SPIRIT

That does not denigrate material things or the physical body. I love the material world in all of its beauty and wonder. I enjoy the flesh that God has given me. There is nothing wrong in the material world so long as we understand that it is not our destiny. Our destiny is with the Spirit. When the physical world and the spiritual worlds collide, go with the latter.

As Paul put sit, "For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh... but those who live according to the Spirit set their minds on the things of the Spirit. To set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace" (8:5-7).

Easter reminds us once again that human destiny is to be found, not with the body, not with the physical realities, but with the Spirit. So, to what destiny are you journeying?

FPPF Polar Power

Keeps Your Diesel Running In The Worst Winter Cold!

Fuel filters, separators do nothing to keep diesel fuel from the waxing or gelling that blocks up and clogs fuel lines and filters.

FPPF Polar Power contains FPPF's Fuel Power and FPPF's Polarized Diesel Fuel Flow Improver, the industry's leaders. It will keep your diesel running in the worst winter cold: lowering the pour-point, totally dispersing water, eliminating gum/varnish...outperforming all other additives and at lower cost.

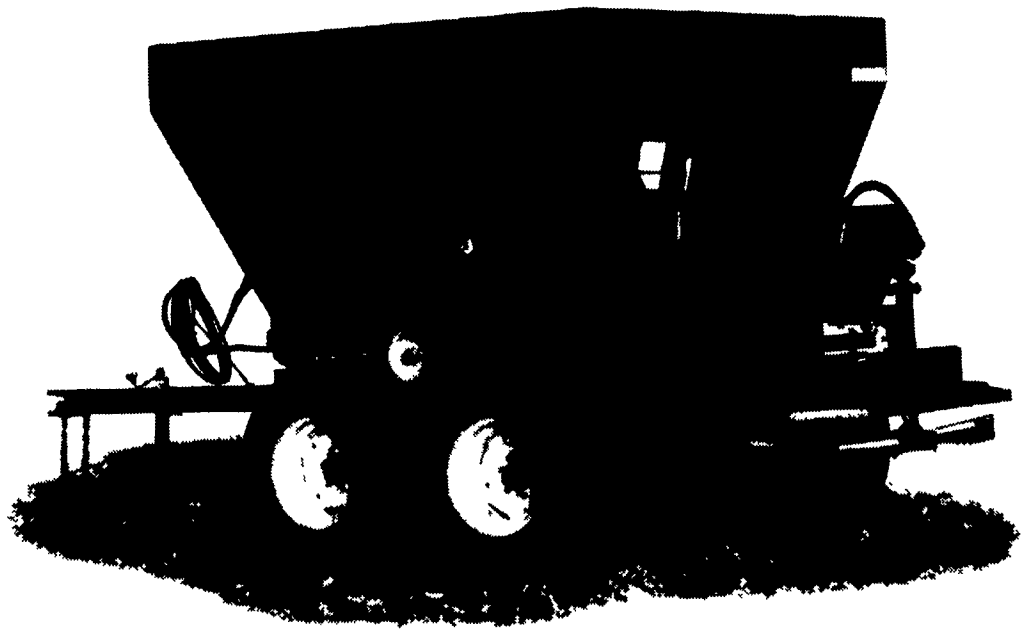
The One Spreader Rugged Enough For Lime, Precise Enough For Fertilizer.



You know how tough it is to spread wet lime. And fertilizer is too expensive to waste. Our new 56i spreader does both jobs with ease. Plus, it has no equal when it comes to spreading "sloppy" material.

Stoltzfus Spreaders have been known as unique, "top-of-the-line" ag spreaders since 1947.

Farmers are still using Stoltzfus Spreaders they've had 20 years or more. That means your investment in a versatile Stoltzfus Spreader will add up to a very smart buy indeed.

Call or write today for a free brochure and the name of the dealer nearest you.

To Find The Best "Burndown" Herbicide,

It's amazing what turns up when you compare the "roots-and-shoots" action of Roundup® herbicide with a contact spray like Gramoxone®.

ROUNDUP DELIVERS COMPLETE CONTROL OF TOUGH GRASSES AND BROADLEAVES.

Unlike the tops-directed action of Gramoxone, Roundup gets down to the root of your weed problems. In doing so, it delivers complete control of over 100 annual and perennial weeds, including fall panicum, johnsongrass, lambsquarters and marestail.

WITH ROUNDUP, YOU DO IT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME.

Since Roundup gets all the way down to the roots, you won't run the risk of costly re-growth problems. Simply put, Roundup works the first time ~ every time. And that can mean substantial savings compared to follow-up rescue treatments.

Pennmarva Young Cooperators

Land O'Lakes Vice President Don Berg related to Pennmarva Dairy Federation young cooperators his "be-attitudes": Be realistic, be pro-active, be a solver, be an opportunist, be positive, be informed, be profitable, be well, and be healthy.

from Virginia Tech in 1981. Elizabeth is a 1978 Middletown High School graduate and earned her human nutrition degree in 1982 from Virginia Tech. They have three children.

The Morris family is active in church and ag activities. Elizabeth is a 4-H leader and Richard serves as advisor to the campus agriculture fraternity. He is a director and past president of the Delaware Holstein Association and serves on Atlantic Dairy's hauling committee.

Victor and Carolyn Yoder, Belleville, were named fourth runners-up. Shawnee-Vu Farm, owned by his parents, includes the 105-head milking herd averaging 19,000 milk and 700 fat, and 200 acres of alfalfa nd corn. Victor is responsible for herd management and daily scheduling for their farm employee.

Both are graduates of Kishacoquillas High School, Victor in 1983 and Carolyn in 1987. He earned his agricultural economics and rural sociology degree from Penn State in 1988 and Carolyn earned her licensed practical nursing degree in 1989 from Mifflin-Juniata Vo-Tech. She is employed part time in a physicians office. The couple has one child.

The Yoders are active leader in their church, and members of the Holstein Association. Victor serves as vice-president of the local Sire Power committee.

Judges for the contest were Donna Duncan, representing the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives, Noel Davis, an agricultural insurance broker, and Gary Hennip, Northeast Division sales and service director for Sire Power.

Atlantic's young cooperator couple and first runners-up will represent ADC at the December National Milk Producers Federation meeting in Dallas, Texas, while the second, third and fourth-runnerup couples will attend the National Institute of Cooeprative Education conference, to be held in Washington, D.C. in mid-July. All five winning couples will serve on ADC's young cooperator consultant committee.

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers

Williamsburg dairy farmers David and Terelle Rice were named outstanding young cooperators by Maryland Virginia Milk producers. They are sole operators of their 54-head registered Holsteins and 58 acres cropped to alfalfa, corn and pasture. Rolling herd average is 20,465 milk, 758 fat and 658 protein. They custom-hire field work and have a goal of using more intensive grazing on their acrage.

The couple has two children, Anthony 3, and Yolanda Sue, 6-months and the family is active with the Martinsburg Mennonite Church. They are members of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Blair-Bedford Crop Management Association, Pennsylvania Association of Sustainable Agriculture and the Ridge and Valley Network.

Mark and Lois Yoder, Imler, were chosen first runnerup winners. The Yoders operate Mid-Vel Farms with his parents. Herd average on their 55-registered Holstein milking string is 22,563 milk, 785 fat and 712 protein. Corn, alfalfa and grass hay are the primary crops planted to the farm's 203 acres.

4-H'ers Looking For Lost Heifers

CHRISTIANA (Lancaster Co.) — The DiMarzio family, who live between Christiana and Atglen, are looking for four lost Ayrshire heifers that escaped through a downed fence on their farm. The fence was broken when a logger felled a tree.

Tracks of the two bred and two open heifers that are 4-H projects of Michael, 15, and Erica, 14, lead out to the road. But then they vanish.

Faith DiMarzio said her children put up their own money to buy the animals, and they hope someone will know where they are. Besides the financial loss, the animals were pets and could easily have been stolen. If you have seen the heifers or know anything about where they have gone, please call (215) 593-0369.

Delaware, Mid-East Merge

mining factor in where dairy herd owners can go to receive service. For example, dairy herds in Vermont are having their dairy herd records processed in North Carolina.

Dukas said that the word "dynamic" is accurate in describing the ongoing changes in the U.S. dairy industry's use of record keeping and processing services.

The range of change goes from state-to-state mergers, subgroups within larger groups switching alliances, to individuals seeking alternative services for their specific herds.

Among some of the factors being considered in assessing current DHIA service carriers, and potential new carriers, are technician availability, reliability, dependability, type of services provided, and cost.

Delaware Merges

One of the most recent mergers occured this week when Delaware DHIA yesterday officially mergered with Mid-East DHIA, based in Columbus, Ohio.

The members of the Delaware DHIA last week approved a merger with the Mid-East DHIA, that was effective as of April 1.

Mid-East DHIA is the association covering producers in Maryland and West Virginia, in addition to Ohio and some Midwestern states. George Grambling, general manager of Mid-East was not available for comment this past week, according to an office receptionist, because he was attending meetings.

However, Dr. George Haenlein, a well-known dairy expert with the University of Delaware Extension Service, who has also served in support of the Delaware DHIA, said that he sees the move as being beneficial to the Delaware membership in the long run.

Haenlein, as an Extension specialist, is to continue his involvement with Delaware DHIA by serving as an ex officio with Mid-East board of directors.

According to Haenlein, the 38 herds with Delaware DHIA were never a real affiliate to begin with, having processing done through Cornell University with Northeast DHIA. But under that arrangement, Delaware was an autonomous organization.

Under the merger, Mid-East has changed also. It now is comprised of 10 subunits with one representative each on the Mid-East Board of Directors.

But Delaware hasn't forfeited all of its self-governing powers. They are retaining their own board of directors.

According to a written report from Haenlein, "To give up our sovereignty did not come easy. We had many soul searching meetings and discussion of the benefits and consequences.

"In the final analysis, we were convinced that the prospects of fulltime management of our affairs by Mid-East, which we were no long able to provide under the new National DHIA rules, were in the best interest of Delaware DHIA.

"We will continue to have our records processed by Cornell Computing Center and our records will be officially certified under the Mid-East program."

Mid-East is to take over responsibility for supervisor training, retraining, insurance, national dues, conversion to electronics, evaluations, and accuracy verifications, according to Haenlein.

"We will have to pay to Mid-East 28 cents per-cow extra, per-month, but by saving other current secretarial costs in our budget, we have calculated that this merger will cost us only 10 cents per-cow, per-month extra.

"Any extra cost is a very undesirable burden, but is seems that under the present circumstances, we had no other choice and in the long run, we will be glad that we made this move."

During a telephone interview Thursday, Haenlein said the reason for the merger was not that the number of cows on test in Delaware was falling. Just the opposite, but the number of animals never was strong enough to justify paying for complete independent status.

He also said that the merger will not affect the necessity of extension service. He said that University of Delaware has always maintained a good relationship with Maryland, and Virginia, and he said he expects that cooperation to continue.

The merger was not a surprise for its members, according to Haenlein. "The Delaware DHIA board looked into the cost figures in four separate directors' meetings and public meetings to make sure everybody understood what the costs would be and what costs were reasonable."

Whether or not the individual dairyman receives his value for the price of paying for accurate, reliable records isn't something that any organization can ensure,

Conservation Learned At Early Age

Teresa said her sons already accompany their father and grandfather on several tasks on the farm.

It was early on, too, that David remembers learning a lot about how to work the Lykens Valley farm — including the ever-essential conservation practices that not only contribute to farm productivity but enhance the rural environment.

For education and compliance with conservation techniques early on, the Feidts were recently honored as the Dauphin County Conservation Farmers of the Year.

Eugene's father, Floyd, signed up with the district in 1955. Conservation practices were installed in the years since, and additional improvements were made after Eugene purchased the farm in 1986.

Eugene said the farm tills about 250 acres altogether, spread over two separate farms and including rented acres. The Feidts plant about 130 acres of corn and 80 acres of alfalfa, in addition to about 30 acres of barley. They maintain about 75 acres of woodland and 10 acres of pasture.

The Feidts take care of about 80 milking cows, about 75 percent of which are registered and the remainder grade. They maintain the same number of replacement stock. Milking is from tiestall to pipeline, and they are signed up with the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative.

"I feel that strip and contour farming is beneficial in controlling erosion, along with no-till and minimum-till," said Eugene. "Our manure storage is saving us on use of fertilizer."

David said that contour acreage equals about 100 acres, with another 150 acres in strip cropping. In the Lykens Valley, there are a great deal of hilly areas, and drainage and handling the water are special challenges.

David Feidt shovels grain into a wagon for his son, Nicholas, to feed the cows.

Eugene Feidt begins milking. Notice the use of extensive newspaper bedding for cow comfort.

But those challenges were met years ago with the installation of about 2,500 feet of tile drainage. A drainage basin was installed last fall. "Water maintenance" is often the key to successful conservation farming techniques, and using this system, the water does not wash away soil. The sites hold water for slow emptying into the Wiconisco Creek, which drains into the Susquehanna River.

Dealing with the qualities of the land and the soil is a challenge, too, considering the characteristics of the shale/slate soil, what soil experts call a Calvin-Lechhill shaley/silt loam. But the drainage site has worked well since its installation, even despite the heavy snow melt from the harsh winter season, according to David.

The Dauphin County Conservation District helped the Feidts sign up for cost sharing with the Chesapeake Bay program to install a manure storage structure. The circular concrete structure, which holds 350,000 gallons and is emptied twice a year, was installed in the fall of 1990.

One of the challenges that farmers in the areas face in the coming years, according to Deloris, is the problems with manure application. Even last summer, some "hot" manure was applied on a particularly muggy day, according to Eugene. Oftentimes the Feidts wonder if urban encroachment won't affect some of the things they do on the farm in the future.

Jordy Feidt, 3½ , has learned how to clean the manure from the floor of the tie stall barn.

Teresa said that, perhaps, spreading manure will be more of a "hassle" for farmers in the coming years. Deloris said that farmers will have to somehow try to get by considering all the DER and "other laws and rules" farmers are becoming subject to.

But whatever the case may be, the Feidts are confident that the generation to take over the farm in the years to come will have plenty of education and experience to help them with their decision-making.

Md. To Host Game Bird Seminar

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Game bird breeders throughout the Mid-Atlantic area are invited to attend a Saturday seminar on biosecurity and disease prevention.

The all-day event is scheduled April 9 at the Maryland Department of Agriculture headquarters building on the northwest edge of historic Annapolis, Md.

Sponsoring organizations include the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Mid-Atlantic Cooperative Extension Poultry Health & Management Unit (MACE), an amalgamation of avian health professionals associated with land-grant universities in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, state departments of agriculture in four states, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Financial support is being furnished by feed supplies and the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. Donors will be recognized at the conference. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., and the program runs from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Noon lunch will be provided.

Free handout packets will include medication and soil treatment guides for game bird operators, "a "Twenty Questions" sheet, and a "Good Neighbors" brochure, just published by MACE, that presents a detailed health program for specialty flocks.

Roger E. Olson, program coordinator, notes that the seminar is the first of its kind ever held in the Northeast — and possibly in the nation. Olson is assistant state veterinarian for Maryland and assistant chief of the MDA's Animal Health section. He notes that game bird breeders are becoming aware of the need for biosecurity practices to ward off avian disease problems that threaten their operations.

Program topics will include avian influenza, Newcastle, and other diseases; laboratory diagnosis; biosecurity, nutrition, and other aspects of avian health management.

Lancaster County Commissioner Kisses A Pig

WASHINGTON BORO (Lancaster Co.) — Chairman of the Lancaster County Commissioners, James E. Huber, went into spring training this week in preparation for defending his 1993 Kiss A Pig championship in a contest sponsored by the Lancaster Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

Commissioner Huber wants to increase his winning skills at kissing a lovely Lancaster County pig. On Thursday afertnoon he practiced the skill at the farm of Dean and Doris Neff, on Central Manor Road. The three-week old pig, Pigonia II, will be the pig that the contest winner kisses on Penn Square at noon on April 29, 1994.

The Neffs along with their 3-year-old son Joey and Pigonia II greeted the official party on the front lawn of their beautiful farm house and 43 acres of prime farm land. They have 300 sows and a farrow to feeder pig operation. Joey represents the fourth generation to live on the farm. No one knew how many generations Pigonia II represented.

The contest has three basic purposes— to raise money for diabetes research programs; to raise awareness to the seriousness of the disease; and to thank pigs for the many years they have literally kept people with diabetes alive.

When insulin was first discovered there were only two sources — the pancreas of pigs and cows. Later it was found that pig insulin had a higher acceptance level in humans and became the preferred of the two sources.

Today, human insulin is produced synthetically and has replaced pork and beef insulin in most cases. However, there are many people who owe years of their lives to the pig and still use pork insulin.

Commissioner Huber claims his challengers are getting serious and are trying to remove his crown. He claims he will be heartbroken to have someone else steal a kiss from the lovely Pigonia. He insists he is a jealous man when it comes to kissing pigs.

Huber promises to kiss and tell if anyone will help him to earn the honor to plant a big one on Pigonia the Pig, April 29, at noon on Penn Square.

As the 1993 Kiss A Pig champion, Huber is one of six celebrity candidates for the 1994 contest.

Other Kiss-A-Pig candidates include: Patti Connell, president of Land Transfer Co., Inc. Ron Ford, past president of Lancaster City Council, and employee service associate at Ford New Holland. Philip Loht, director of marketing development for Kunzler & Company, Inc. Lilia Nice, executive assistant to state representative Michael Sturla. Jere Schuler, state representative.

The winner of the competition gets to kiss Pigonia, and the American Diabetes Association will have more funds for research, education programs, and the Association's camp for children with diabetes. The contestants will vie for the privilege of kissing Pigonia by collecting the most money for diabetes.

Explaining his visit to the Neff farm, Commissioner Huber said, "I want to court the lovely Pigonia, woo her, and extend all my charms as a contestant in the kissing contest."

Commissioner Huber was accompanied by his campaign manager Jack Church, vice president of the Farmers First Bank. Church was officially named at the Neff farm to head Huber's campaign.

according to Haenlein. The value of the records will always be dependent on what the dairyman can do with the records and the information derived from them.

"Reliable record keeping is the purpose of DHIA," Haenlein said. "Some requirements seem crazy, but they serve a purpose. As long as we can have reliable records ... "

Wayne Collison was designated to be the first director for Delaware to the Mid-East board.

N.J. Herds Join Pa.DHIA

In other recent changes, a number of New Jersey DHIA members elected to join the Pennsylvania DHIA.

According to David Slusser, manager of Pa.DHIA, 16 New Jersey herds, that had been with Northeast DHIA, have switched to using the Pa.DHIA services.

"There's a possibility of others coming along," Slusser said Wednesday from Gettysburg during a telephone interview. He said Pa.DHIA was invited by the dairymen in New Jersey to give a presentation on what services it could provide.

Slusser said that the new changes in DHIAs across the nation has created a different playing field for DHIAs. It's the first time they've had to be competitive. Previously, the organizations were run from an academic standpoint of record keeping, with consideration of cost not being primary.

But the atmosphere has changed, precipitated by the belief that every dairyman has a right to seek the best service available to him, in price and quality.

Slusser said what it means is that Pa.DHIA has to be just as competitive as all the other 36 DHIAs across the nation.

"Whenever we have the opportunity, we are actively soliciting herds," Slusser said Thursday. "This (New Jersey group) is just the first group that we've started in. We're working now with possibly setting up a technician in New York state.

"I think (competition between DHIAs) is probably a fairly permanent thing. It may force more states to work together, but competition in DHIA is here to stay.

"I'm glad that we're very competitive and not losing ground, but we haven't been as aggressive as we plan to be in the near future. It's kind of an interesting and exciting time, but we're not certain what's going to happen yet," Slusser said.

"I think what's going to evolve out of it is the most efficient, most reliable service providers are

Dairy Of Distinction Application

KINGSTON (Luzerne Co.) — All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to make application for the 1994 Dairy of Distinction award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 21 districts will receive an 18" by 24" sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

To enter, complete the application with this news release and send it to your state chairperson. The program has been in operation for a number of years, and some of the farms that entered in the beginning years were good enough to win, but because of the limit of 10 per district, some farms were not selected at that time. Now would be a good time for some of those farms who entered before and did not win to try again.

In addition, the program is always looking for new entries of farms that are neat, clean, and give a good impression to the public who drink our milk.

The deadline for 1994 entries is coming fast. Your application must be postmarked by April 15. So enter now. Return your application by April 15. New York dairy farms should send applications to:

Carol Weddle, New York Holstein Association, 957 Mitchell Street, Box 190, Ithaca, NY 14851.

Pennsylvania dairy farm applications should be sent to:

Paul Nichols, ADADC, Tower Business Bldg., 239 Schuyler Ave, STE 105, Kingston, PA 18704.

And New Jersey dairy farm applications should be sent to: August Knispel, RD 1, Box 325, Pittstown, NJ 00867.

Regional Maryland Ag Mechanics Contest Held

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

HAMPSTEAD, Md. — If the theoretical capacity of a 14-foot self-propelled windrower is seven acres per hour and it cuts 63.7 acres in 13 working hours, what is its field efficiency? Is the answer, a. 70 percent, b. 41 percent, c. 62 percent or d. 91 percent?

If you knew the answer was a. 70 percent, give yourself a reward! This was just one of ninety questions that eight Future Farmers of America took their time to answer in the recent regional Ag Mechanic Test, which was held at North Carroll High School in Hampstead, Maryland. The test gave FFA members from Carroll, Baltimore and Harford counties the opportunity to be tested on some of the things they will use in life should they choose a career in agriculture.

Delivered in three parts, the first part of the test was a ten page written exam with questions that explored everything from oil viscosity, diesel injection and planetary gear systems, to the direction to mow a hay field, soil types in Maryland and questions about acreage.

As part of the recent regional Ag Mechanic's contest at North Carroll High School, Kevin Snyder of North Carroll High School works on hooking up the electricity it takes to make a light.

Bobby Bollinger of Francis Scott Key's FFA Chapter wires a switch and an outlet.

In the second part of the test, (the five page problem solving section), the participants were allowed to use charts and graphs to answer similar mechanical, electrical or agricultural questions.

The third part was a hands-on exploration of each student's expertise at wiring electrical circuits, putting together a piston assembly, identifying parts of a small engine, miking all three journals of a crank pin and using a telescoping gauge and a micrometer and a manual to find information on a Briggs and Stratton engine. They needed to identify five wood fasteners, answer questions about shingling and lay the first four courses as well as many other practical demonstrations of skill.

Two teams consisting of four students participated. From Francis Scott Key; Eric Wantz, Tom forney, Bob Bollinger and Hatton Brown took part. From North Carroll High School, participants were Kevin Snyder, Woody Tuffley, Brandon Barthel and Jerry Johnson. Each of these students will go on to compete at the State Ag Mechanics Contest which is scheduled for April 28 at the University of Maryland. Winners there will go on to the National competition to be held the second week of November in Kansas City, Kansas.

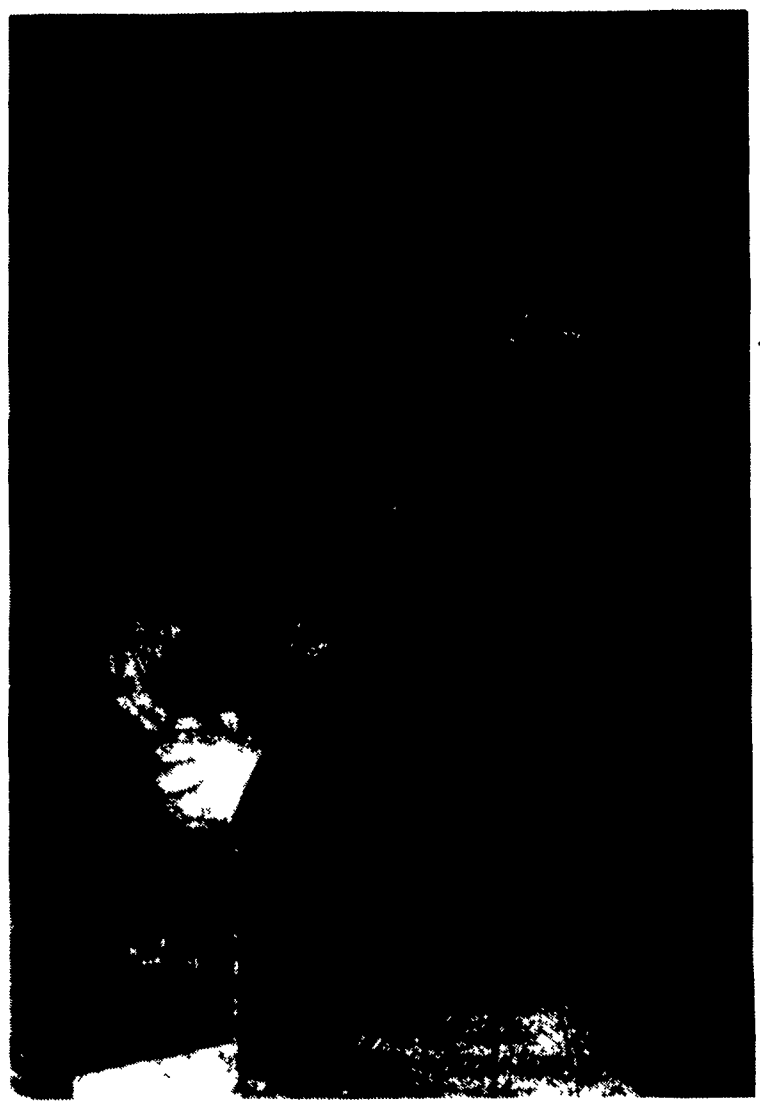
In preparing the exam North Carroll High School's Ag Science teacher and FFA advisor to the school, Sara Osborne worked closely with former National contestant and Middletown FFA Advisor, Gregg Stull. Terry Wivell and Richard Summers, two representatives from D.W. Ogg Equipment Company of Frederick, Maryland were on hand to check the participants' workmanship.

"This is our first time doing this," said Sara Osborne of the test. "We've put a lot of time and hard work into it and we look for it to grow with each year."

While the FFA team from Francis Scott Key scored the highest, the dedication and effort exhibited by all during the testing proved that every participant is a winner. Next on their agenda . . . the State competition in April!

Eric Wantz of the Francis Scott Key chapter of Future Farmers of America wires a switch as part of the regional Ag Mechanics Contest.

Woody Tuffley of North Carroll County puts together a piston assembly.



Brandon Barthel of North Carroll High tests his skill at wiring electricity to a light.

Mid East UDIA Hosts Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The opening luncheon at the 1994 Dairy Spectacular will provide an opportunity for dairy producers to learn more about the value of their investment in product promotion.

Mid East UDIA is to serve as host of the luncheon and annual information meeting which is to take place April 21, at 11 a.m., in the Ohio Agriculture Building on the Ohio State Fair Grounds.

Discussion following the luncheon will focus on the programs implemented by Mid East UDIA and what a difference they are making in building demand for milk and milk products.

Producers will see how check-off dollars contribute to efficient, coordinated advertising campaigns, nutrition education programs in schools that position dairy products as nutritious and delicious food choices, and workshops to help retailers and restaurants to boost milk sales.

Individuals that would like to attend the luncheon and annual meeting must R.S.V.P. with Mid East UDIA at 1-800-292-MILK by April 14.

45,000 Chickens Destroyed In York County Fire

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

SPRING GROVE (York Co.) — Brisk wind helped fan a swiftly-moving fire that destroyed 45,000 laying hens and a 348-foot poultry barn March 23 on the farm of Roy and Sara Diem, Spring Grove R2.

"It went so fast. That day was a nightmare," recalled Sara Diem, pausing a moment during a massive, volunteer-effort cleanup that go under way last Friday.

Roy Diem was alerted to the fire by a neighbor who first spotted the smoke. But winds estimated at least 20 miles-per-hour, and poultry house fans that kicked on automatically in response to the heat, helped spur the flames that quickly engulfed the structure. Diem estimates some ten fire cmpanies turned out to help fight the devastating blaze.

Two days later, another outpouring of help arrived to mount a day-long cleanup. The effort was initiated by Don Stelfox, the Diem family's pastor and the disaster committee at their Garber Mennonite Church at Menges Mills, and the local Hope Mennonite Fellowship.

More than 100 volunteers began arriving early last Friday morning, some by the vanload responding to the church's disaster committee network, other neighbors and friends driving front-end loaders or trucks a short distance across the farm hills for the cleanup. From as far away as Juniata County and across the border from Maryland, volunteers took off a day of work to tackle the dirty, backbreaking work of disposing of charred metal cages, bent and twisted tin roofing and piles of carcasses.

"We were under some stress to get the birds disposed of in a short time. It was a real burden. We really appreciate what was done here," related a grateful Roy Diem as the cleanup effort was winding down.

Even as lingering wisps of smoke rose over the charred remains, what to do with several tons of chicken carcasses posed a major concern for the Diems. Disposal charges, quoted by rendering plants and landfills, tallied several thousand dollars.

With the advice and assistance of Penn State extension poultry specialist John Swartz, and after consulting with local Manheim Tonwship officials, Diem opted to go the composting route. Using a portion of their manure pit as a composting site, the carcasses were layered with straw and turkey manure. Natural heating over several weeks will decompose the carcasses into an organic residue that can be recycled onto the soil.

"It's an ecologically safe way to handle it," said Diem.

Replacement cost for the building and the layer flock is between $400,000 and $450,000, Diem estimates. The Diems owned the poultry house, which is insured, while Pennfield Corporation, Lancaster, owned the birds on contract. The firm is self-insured against such losses.

"This is the first fire I can remember," noted Gary Gladys, live production manager for Pennfield. "It very seldom happens in the industry."

The original structure is estimated to have been built in the early 1970s. Roy and Sara Diem purchased the farm and poultry house in 1979. In 1986, they gutted and completely remodeled the original building, adding an 84-foot addition and a 30 x 48-foot egg room with new equipment.

"The fire marshal feels the fire started in the fans in the new part," Diem said.

The Diems are undecided if they will rebuild.

More than 100 volunteers turned out to help clean up the aftermath of a swift-moving fire that destroyed 45,000 chickens at the farm of Roy and Sara Diem in York County.

Meeting Set On Worker Protection Standards

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — New regulations under the Worker Protection Standards for Agricultural Pesticides will be explained at a meeting on Thursday, April 14 at 9 a.m. at Thompson's Dairy Bar.

Sponsored jointly by Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the Department of Agriculture and Lackawanna County Cooperative Extension, the all-day program will include an overview of the regulations and the responsibilities of anyone who uses agricultural pesticides, how employers must train their workers who do not use pesticides, some legal implications of the standards, and new regulations for farm labor housing.

Speakers will be Dave Bingaman, environmental specialist with the Department of Agriculture; Karl Brown, director of ag employer programs for the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau; Attorney Robert Haas, Harrisburg; and Don Overdorff, county extension agent.

These standards will affect anyone who owns or manages a farm, forest, nursery, or greenhouse where pesticides are used in the production of agricultural plants.

Even if the grower has no employees, he or she will have some responsibilities under these standards. If workers are hired the owner is obligated to train them in pesticide safety even if they don't handle or apply the pesticide.

The effective date for these standards is April 15, and growers need to learn what will be required of them to protect themselves and their workers.

Reservations for the meeting are $10 to be mailed by Saturday, April 9 to the Lackawanna County Cooperative Extension, 200 Adams Avenue, Scranton, PA 18503. For more information, call (717) 963-6842.

Poultry Federation Sets Banquet

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — More than 1,500 poultry supporters are expected to attend the 27th annual Pennsylvania Poultry Federation Fund Raising Banquet, scheduled Wednesday, April 6, here at the Hershey Convention Center.

Following a social at 5:30 p.m., the dinner begins at 7 p.m.

According to John Hoffman, Federation president, the banquet is the primary source of funds for the state poultry federation, which benefits producers in a wide range of services, including legislation and government relations, disease control, research, promotion, publications, youth programs, conferences, and scholarships.

The featured menu includes fresh melon ball cocktail, tropical salad with honey mustard eggs and walnuts, chicken marsala for the main dish, whipped potatoes, stir fry vegetables, rolls, butter, beverage, and chocolate parfait.

Entertainment will be provided by Louise Mandrell. Mandrell created her own nationally syndicated television special and a stage show, "Love My Country," which she wrote, produced, and performed in Opryland's Acuff Theatre.

Tickets are $125 each and are available from the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, 500 N. Progress Ave., Harrisburg, PA 17109, (717) 652-7530 or at the banquet.

Tractor Safety Program

There will be a Tractor & Farm Machinery Safety Education Course at the Vo-Ag Department of Octorara High School beginning April 18.

The sessions will be in the evening from 6:30-9 p.m. on April 18, 21, 25 and 28 with a final class on Saturday, April 30 form 8 a.m. to noon.

The course is taught by Walter Wurster, Chester County Extension agent, and Ivan Stauffer, Vo-Ag teacher at Octorara High School.

The course is designed to give youth 14 hours of classroom and hands-on training in the safe operation of farm tractors and some farm machinery. A certificate from the Pennsylvania Department of Labor will be issued to youth 14 to 16 years old who successfully complete the course.

With this certificate, youth in that age group can do certain farm jobs for an employer other than their parents. It is also a good program for youth working at home to teach them how to operate machinery and tractors safely.

Included in the program will be an electrically-controlled model tractor to demonstrate tractor rollover causes, and a Pennsylvania State Trooper from the Avondale barracks will speak about road safety. The cost is $5. For reservations, contact the Chester County Cooperative Extension office at 610-696-3500 by April 13.

Food Safety and Quality Begins At The Farm

The quality of milk that consumers buy today is the highest it has ever been. Farmers are well aware of all the tests and regulations that apply to them to guarantee this quality.

However, consumers are also more concerned about quality today than ever before. Every now and then, the media highlights some problem in the food chain and the public begins to question the safety and quality of their food.

These cases are isolated, but really hurt the food industry and tend to scare people more than is necessary.

Therefore, farmers must be constantly striving to produce top-quality milk. A quality assurance program assumes that there are explicit standards of quality for a product and that proudcers and users are aware of the standards.

This is the basis for the Dairy and Dairy Beef Quality Assurance Program. Dairy producers, in cooperation with their vet and dairy fieldman, agree to this 10-point program.

The main emphasis is on the proper use of antibiotics and how to prevent them from entering the milk supply. You will be required to complete this program if your milk is found to contain antibiotic.

It is voluntary for others, but all dairy farmers can benefit by completing the book.

There is also a trend in quality control to focus on critical control points in the production of milk and other food products, rather than only testing at the end of the cycle for acceptance or rejection.

An example of Hazard Analysis Critical Control Points (HACCP) would be for the hazard of bacteria in milk.

The points to monitor to eliminate this hazard would be: • Clean Cows • Clean milking machines • Clean and sanitize milk handling equipment • Rapid cooling of milk in the bulk tank • Cool temperature storage of milk • Pasteurization • Clean product handling equipment • Sterile product packaging.

This total program, with various checkpoints between the cow and the consumer, will result in a safe, nutritious and tasteful dairy product.

Dairy farmers — keep up the good work and continue to strive for a top-quality product. The food industry doesn't need any more bad publicity from "60 Minutes" or "20/20".

Delaware, Mid-East Merge

going to survive, not necessarily the cheapest. Farmers still want good service."

Slusser was in Gettysburg meeting with area technicians during a spring training conference.

"I'm trying to get to as many of (the training conferences) as possible," Slusser said. "I feel positive about Pennsylvania, especially after meeting our technicians. I feel much better about our future because of that."

Dukas said that what is happening in the East is nothing compared to what is happening across the nation, as dairymen begin to explore their options.

There is no template for successful merging, nor a handbook of how to go about it. For that reason, perhaps, some of the alliances may seem strange.

"At this point we have 36 DHIAs, not only that, but we have a six-state merger that's underway. It's between Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. Arizona and New Mexico is also merged," Dukas said Thursday from national headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

"Utah and Montana merged. Virginia and North Carolina merged about a year ago. These mergers are an attempt to gain efficiencies and really increase the quality of service in those areas," he said.

As far as the financial burden, Dukas said that, in most cases, resources have been reallocated, rather than increased, with less being spent on administration, because of elimination of duplication of effort, and more being spent on actual service.

"We just came out of our annual meeting in San Antonio. There was a lot of discussion with service providers. One DHIA flat out put themselves out on bid. In essence, they said, 'We're a group looking for someone to bid on our DHIA service.'"

But Dukas said he really doesn't see anything wrong with that, because dairymen need to be efficient, and should expect the same out of service providers.

"The needs of the individual farmers are king right now. We're hoping it focuses everyone (on the fact that dairying is a business). Of course the whole process only began a year ago," he said.

Dukas said that with all the competitiveness and change, things aren't going to be easy. "It's a tough environment for DHIA leaders and managers," he said.

However, he said that it is hoped that producer attitudes focus on business and not personalities. He said producers who have developed business attitudes in managing their operations are the ones who have survived.

Holstein Club To Sponsor Bus Trip

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — A bus trip, sponsored by the Wayne County Holstein Club, is scheduled for Saturday, April 9.,

The bus will leave the Wayne County Courthouse at 9 a.m. with an additional stop at about 9:30 a.m. in the Hamlin-Mount Cobb Area. The bus will return to these stops at about 4 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., respectively.

This bus trip will feature visits to Hillside Farms, Inc., located at Shavertown, (outside of Wilkes Barre) and Pen-Col Farms, located at Millville.

The first stop is at Hillside Farms, Inc. one of the oldest established registered Holstein herds in the country. The 72-cow herd is under the supervision of Warren G. Sutton and has a current rolling herd average of 22,554 pounds of milk, 982 pounds of butterfat, and 729 pounds of protein. Hillside Farms, Inc. recently received its eleventh Progressive Breeder's Registry Award. The visit at Hillside Farms, Inc. will be from about 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

The second visit is at Pen-Col Farms at about 1:30 p.m. Pen-Col Farms is owned and operated by Dennis and Lois Wolff and family. They have an ongoing extensive embryo flushing/transfer/freezing program with an elite group of cows. Total milking herd numbers are at about 175 head. A recent farm auction dispersed most of the forage cropping equipment. Pen-Col Farms is now embarking on a custom contracting cropping venture for their forage crops grown on the farm. This move will allow for greater emphasis on the embryo work, cattle management, and marketing.

Cost of this bus trip is $12 per person for adults and $6 per person for 4-H'ers and others of "junior-age" status (birth to 21 years of age). Participants on this bus trip are urged to bring a bag lunch and a drink for this day-long trip.

Please contact either Gerarda Burleigh at (717) 448-2950 or the Wayne County Cooperative Extension at (717) 253-5970, ext. 239 if you plan to participate in this bus trip.

Bull Sale Held

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Pennsylvania's 21st Annual Performance Tested Bull Sale was held here at the Meat Animal Evaluation Center on Friday, March 25.

There was a very large crowd in attendance to appraise an outstanding set of performance tested bulls. There were 121 registered bidders from eight different states.

Dr. Max Van Buskirk, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, brought greetings from the department. Van Buskirk also announced that the public's support for the performance testing programs conducted by the Meat Animal Evaluation Center should be reaffirmed by sending letters to him in Harrisburg indicating that these programs are beneficial to and supportive of the meat animal industries.

The sale started in grand fashion with the twenty Polled Hereford bulls recording the top breed sale average of $1,785. The top indexing Polled Hereford bull, bred by Fred McMurry, was the first bull in the ring and he sold to Bayer's Hereford Ranch of Twin Bridges, Mont. for $2,000. The McMurrys received the top-indexing Polled Hereford award presented by the Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Association. The lot #3 bull consigned by Paul and Bette Slayton sold for the top price of the day. This bull with tremendous EPDs sold to Mike and Judy Patton of Olean, N.Y. for $3,400 on a mail bid. Lot #5 bull consigned by Frank Darcey and Lot #6 consigned by John & Janet Humphrey each sold for $2,400 to Hochreither and Lukan of Hawley, Pa. and Watchtower Farms of Wallkill, N.Y., respectively.

The Angus breed started with the top-indexing bull consigned by Joe and Bobbi McMullen. The McMullens from Lancaster County, Pa. received the top-indexing Angus bull award from the Pennsylvania Angus Association as well as the top-indexing bull over all breeds award. This award was presented by the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association. This bull then sold to Watchtower Farms of Wallkill, N.Y. for $1,700, the third highest price for an Angus bull. The top-selling Angus bull was also consigned by the McMullens. This low-birth weight bull sold to Hendrik Angus Farm of Knoxville, Pa., for $2,300. The second highest selling Angus bull was the high maternal trait bull consigned by Erskine Cash of Centre Hall, Pa. The Rito 2100 GDAR son sold to P T McIntire and Sons of White Post, Va. for $2,000. The 24 Angus bulls grossed $32,750 to record an average of $1,365.

The Simmental division of the sale started with the two top-indexing bulls bred by Ken Foust of Gettysburg, Pa. These two bulls were both sons of the top-indexing and top-selling Simmental bull of Pennsylavnia's 17th Annual Performance Tested Bull sale in 1990. Foust's two bulls sold to William McIntire of Shelocta, Pa. for $1,700 and to George Robinson of Kreamer, Pa. for $1,600. These two prices were surpassed only by the top selling Simmental. This outstanding black Simmental consigned by Messick Farms of Middletown, Pa., was purchased by Ken Foust for $2,500.

The last bull in the sale was the lone Charolais bred by Raymond Bratton of McVeytown, Pa. This bull sold to Richard Eigenbrode of Waynesboro, Pa., for $1,800.

Overall, the 59 bulls sold for a total of $88,350 to tally an average of $1,498. This average would have to qualify this sale as very successful when considering the fact that the average was almost $200 higher than last year's overall average of $1,307.

For more information on Pennsylvania's performance testing programs, contact Glenn Eberly, Director, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803, (814) 238-2527 or (814) 865-5857.

Pa. Beef Expo Debuts In Harrisburg

PORT MATILDA (Centre Co.) — The 1994 Pennsylvania Beef Expo will be highlighted by a large commercial Trade Show and Jerry Palen, nationally recognized cartoonist. There will be many other events - five cattle breed sales, the annual Cattlemen's Association Award Banquet, and the Northeast Beef Cattle Symposium.

For the first time, the Beef Expo will be held at the Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg. All exhibits, sales and shows will be inside the Farm Show Complex.

The Trade Show will consist of over 40 commercial exhibits offering a wide range of new products for the cattle industry.

"Space is still available for more exhibits," according to Dan Gard, co-chairman of the Expo Trade Show Committee, "the trade show has always been one of the main attractions of the Beef Expo, and we are pleased that the commercial companies provide the necessary support to make the Expo a success."

Jerry Palen, creator of the popular Flo and Elmo cartoons, will be at the Expo all three days — Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 8, 9, and 10. Mr. Palen provides whole-family entertainment as he and his audience laugh about his real-life experience of "growing up country" and then later owning and operating his own cattle operation in Wyoming.

According to Lowell Wilson, professor of animal science at Penn State, "Jerry uses the finesse of a finely-tuned storyteller as he helps people understand that working together as a family and as a couple in agriculture can be fun; and Jerry uses each of us, plus Flo and Elmo, to illustrate how we can laugh along. Jerry also draws cartoons at each of the events he attends, allowing us to laugh at ourselves even more."

Palen will be at the Expo all three days and will certainly bring a new dimension to the event.

The Educational Program, with important contemporary presentations on grazing systems, handling newly arrived cattle, use of growth promotants, nutrient management, and marketing innovations, will old son Jonathan are members of the Trinity United Church of Christ. The Yoders were both active 4-H and FFA members. They continue their agriculture and community interests and leadership through the Bedford DHIA, Claysburg Community Farm Show, Agway, Select Sires and the Mansion Cove Dairy Show, where Mark serves as a director.

Virginia dairy producers Craig and Karen Boyd were named second runner-up winners. They are sole owners of their dairy operation, with a 55-head registered Holstein milking herd and corn, alfalfa and grass hay in the 220 acres they crop. Rolling herd average on DHIA is 19,094 pounds milk, 655 fat and 632 protein. One goal of the Boyds is genetics merchandising through bull contracts and embryo sales.

The couple has two daughters, 5-year-old Kelsie and 3-year-old Carleigh. Active in their local church and community, they are members of the Holstein Assocatioin and Virginia Tech's Dairy Science Alumni. Karen coaches the Loudoun County 4-H dairy judging team.

Third runners-up Melvin and Barbara Marks own and operate their 54-head registered Holstein herd at Airville. Average production is 18,129 pounds milk, 690 fat and 603 protein. Rotational grazing plays a large role in their acreage use, with the farm's 80 acres cropped in alfalfa and improved pasture.

Melvin and Barbara have three daughters, Erin, 10, Nicole, 8, and Trisha, 6. Both are Sunday School teachers at Chanceford Presbyterian Church and the family is active in 4-H and FFA. The Marks' agriculture involvement includes York Coutny DHIA and Holstein Club, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, National Forage and Grassland Council, Sire Power and Atlantic Breeders Cooperative.

The Rices and the Yoders will attend both the National Institute of Cooperation and National Milk Producers Federation meeting on behalf of Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers. The Boyds and the Marks will also attend the NICE conference.

Judges for the Maryland and Virginia contest were Brill Jones, vice president of Ag Finance, Central Fidelity Bank, Patricia Stroup, dairy producer and treasurer of Eastern Milk Producer's young cooperators, and Paul Stull, retired vo-ag teacher and vo-tech school principal.

Middle Atlantic Division Dairymen, Inc.

Terry Stump, York, was named the Young Dairymen division winner for the Middle Atlantic Division, Dairymen Inc.

Terry has farmed with the Joseph Stump family at their Stump Acres Farm since graduating from high school in 1984. In 1993, a three-way partnership was formed between Terry, his father and a partner who had been active in the operation for 27 years. The operation includes an 84-head registered Holstein herd, 80-head Angus beef herd, 1500 acres owned and rented, and a raw milk jugging store on the farm.

Herd responsibilities handled by Terry include breeding, feeding, keeping the computerized records and evening milkings.

Terry is a member and director on the York County board of the Pennsylania Farm Bureau and a Sunday School teacher.

He will represent the Middle Atlantic Division at the Dairymen, Inc. Young Dairymen contest, to be held during the cooperative's annual meeting in December in Louisville, Kentucky. Judges of the contest were members of the division's young dairymen committee.

Winners from the three cooperatives were announced during a combined awards luncheon, following two days of interviews and cooperative education seminars.

Luncheon speaker was Don Berg, vice president of Land O'Lakes dairy cooperative, who told participants and guests that successful producers must deal in reality and look for opportunity.

Dairy reality, he said, is that the marketplace is increasingly dominated by "big players" and the "Wal-Mart phenomenon" of the cheapest possible price. Retailers do not want constant price violatilty or heavy investment in inventory.

"We need to get rid of the habit of blaming others rather than ourselves," Berg told the dairy participants. "Create the future."

To meet that challenge, he believes producers must commit to maintaining a dairy industry that will be a vital part of a regional economy, create lifestyles for themselves that meet their social and financial needs and support producers who use progressive technology and measure themselves against the rest of the world.

Poultry Progress Day

producer who wants to achieve a quality product.

In a report on nutrient management regulations and how they will affect the poultry farmer was addressed by Jay Howes, manager, ag service of Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

While there are still a lot of unanswered questions as special planning considerations are debated, Howes said farmers should continue to keep abreast of the discussions and offer input into the process.

Although there is a heavy DER component on the board, to date the participants seem receptive to the farmers' concerns and farmers should seek to dialogue not only with agricultural representatives but also those from DER, Howes said.

A favorable aspect for farmers, Howes said, is that local conservation districts that give approval of nutrient management plans are staffed by people knowledgeable of the farming community's concerns.

Dr. Gwen Franz of Intervet helped farmers examine the influence of infectious bursa disease on profits. While vaccination is the most efficient method to control losses, Franz explained the types of vaccine available. The most effective vaccine to use depends on the health status of birds, weight, age, and type of birds, and the maternal antibody level.

Gary Gladys of Pennfield Corporation said that bird performance can be improved through proper ventilation. A common problem this winter was that houses were not tight enough to get the most out of the ventilation system installed. Gaps in doors and open fan louvers cause heat losses and can be controlled by tightening these areas.

Infectionious Laryngotracheal (L.T.) can be controlled through biosecurity and vaccinations.

Zoann Parker, extension agent, said it is important to recognize, you are the spreader, not birds nor the environment. Cleanliness starts with you.

She emphasized the importance of change of footwear every time a new facility is entered. Washing hands and arms and disinfecting vehicles before entering a facility are important.

It is easy to get complacent, but insist that visitors disinfect before and after entering your facility, she said.

Dr. Patty Dunn of Penn State's veterinary science department said that L.T. can be controlled by vaccination although it is difficult because L.T. is highly contagious and easily transmitted before clinical signs appear in the birds. Vaccinations can be applied by eye drops, spray, and through drinking water. The advantages and disadvantages of each method was examined.

Now Is The Time To Have Your Farm Entered In The Dairy Of Distinction Program. Use Application Below.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.)—The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc., is prepared to receive applications for the 1994 awards. This program rewards clean, well-kept farmsteads to help with consumer acceptance of dairy products in the store.

State President Dan Baker, dairyman from Covington, Tioga County, said the program has been well received, and officers look forward to an excellent program again next year.

"There are plenty of good looking dairy farms out there that have not been judged," Baker said. "And even those who have entered the selection process in the past years, without success should enter again."

The program provides rewards of recognition to producers who maintain attractive production sites. This recognition benefits the entire dairy industry, as well as individual dairymen. Not only does the favorable publicity generated by the program in the general press help bring modern farm practices to the attention of urban people, farmers use the distinction to promote their own operation or seek and hire farm labor.

Paul Nichols, the secretary for the Pennsylvania program, said applications may be sent to him any time after January 1, 1994. Deadline for applications is April 15. Judging is completed in May and is based on the roadside appearance of buildings; grounds, and surroundings. The states are divided into districts and a local committee oversees the program in each district.

A team of judges designated by the local committee visits each farm and uses a score sheet to rate each farm. In Pennsylvania, in addition to this team of judges, the sanitarian for the farm's cooperative or dealer-handler is asked to be part of the judging process.

"One of the things I always tell people is that even though they may not now have the most fancy place, they can work toward the principles of the Dairy of Distinction program," Nichols said. "By doing this, they work toward a goal that encourages consumers to use more dairy products."

Winners receive a colorful, 18x24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. In addition, as in past years, an 11x14-inch color portrait of the farm will be given by Lancaster Farming to each winning farm in the Pennsylvania program.

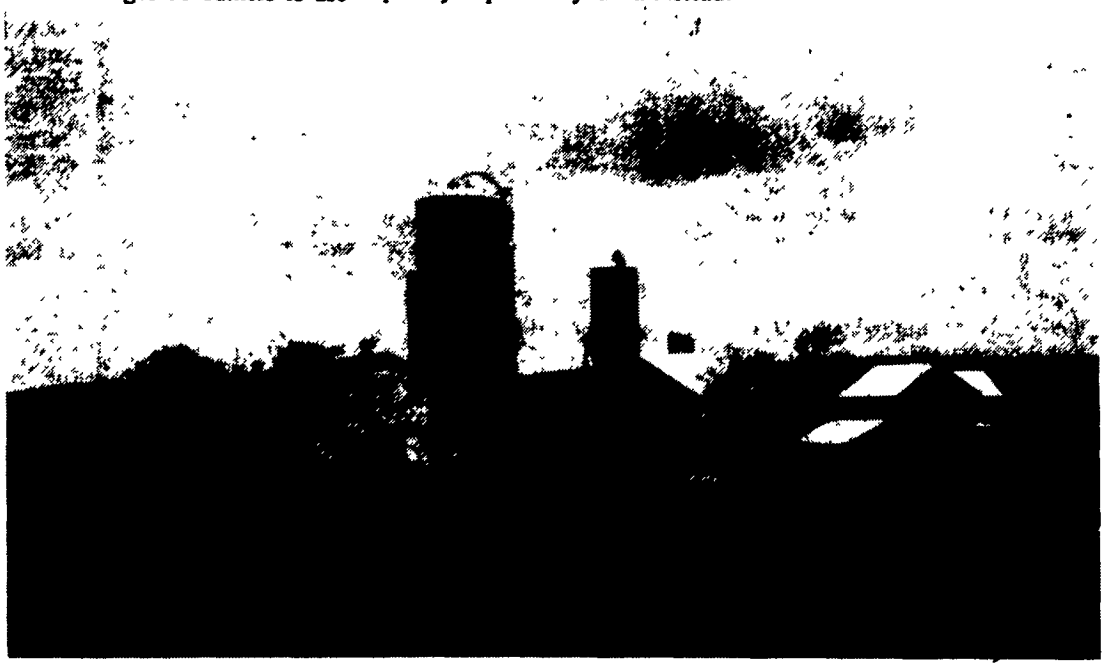
"As a dairy farmer, you work hard all year long, taking care of your farm," said Helen Fountain, program executive secretary. "In addition to managing your herd, there are lawns to mow, flowers to plant, and overall maintenance to keep farm buildings looking great. You deserve to be recognized for all the hard work, dedication and pride you put into your farmstead.

"It's time you and your farm received some recognition for your hard work. The coveted Dairy of Distinction award will give you that recognition. In addition, your attractive farm will enhance consumer confidence in the wholesomeness of milk, thereby stimulating milk sales and encourage public support for the dairy industry."

Active dairy farms in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are eligible to apply for the award. Criteria for Dairy of Distinction awards include: clean and attractively finished buildings; neat landscaping, ditches, roads and lands; and well-maintained fences. Cleanliness of animals, barnyard, feed areas, as well as manure management, are also taken into consideration.

Applications are available from each state's program secretary or local cooperative extension. In New York, contact Carol Weddle, New York Holstein Assn., 957 Mitchell St., Box 190, Ithica, N.Y. 14851. In New Jersey, contact Angust Knispel, RD 1, Box 325, Pittstown, NJ 08867.

In Pennsylvania, you may contact Paul Nichols, American Dairy Association/Dairy Council, Tower Business Building, 239 Schuyler Ave., Kingston, PA 18704.



The North View Farm of the Calvin and Mary Will family in Somerset County is an example of the farms that were designated Dairy of Distinction last year. You are invited to use the application to have your farm named in 1994.

L.T. before 10 days of age. Recommended times for broilers is 10-12 days after birth but no later than four weeks. Roosters and capons should be vaccinated twice at two weeks and eight weeks. Breeders and layers should be vaccinated twice at seven and 15 weeks.

Flocks can be vaccinated after an outbreak if the majority is not showing clinical signs of the disease. It is unknown if vaccines can also be a source of outbreaks, but newly vaccinated birds do shed virus for one week after vaccination and should not be exposed to non-vaccinated birds.

Lancaster and surrounding counties have 21 cases of L.T.

For those who question how insurance companies establish premiums for farms, Gregory Kirkham of Old Guard Mutual Insurance Company explained the many aspects influencing the premiums.

Castastrophe losses from winter storms in this area actually exceeded losses from those reported from the Los Angeles riots, the California earthquake, and the Homestead hurricane, Kirkham said.

Farmers can reduce premiums by reducing their chance of loss by making sure of adequate electrical wiring protection from rodent problems. Insulation must be covered with acceptable ignition barriers. Fire extinquishers, lightning rods, and reduced combustible materials near buildings reduce the risk of fire. Biosecurity measures and equipment safety are positive influences in reducing premiums.

Enrollment in a quality assurance program guarantees an immediate rate reduction, Kirkham said.

Farmers can sign up for Pennsylvania's egg quality assurance program until June 30, said John Hoffman of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

Enrollment in the program is voluntary, but once you enroll you sign a contract to uphold standards. If you become dissatisfied with the program, you can resign, Hoffman said.

The program assures buyers that the products are safe from salmonella. If a flock in the program tests positive, the eggs must be diverted to the breaker until the flock tests negative for four consecutive weeks.

The cost of tests, sampling material, and technical assistance is the responsibility of USDA and the Poultry Association and not the farmer, Hoffman said.

For details about program participation, call (717) 652-7530.

The Longer You Wait To Control Quackgrass, The More It Will Cost You.

A wise man once said, "He who hesitates is lost." That's why it makes sense to stop quackgrass early with Roundup® herbicide.

WAITING CAN COST YOU MONEY.

Rescue treatments can cost up to twice as much as Roundup. Even then, they don't deliver the same complete, consistent control.

WAITING CAN COST YOU YIELD.

If you wait until your corn is up to control quackgrass, you've already lost yield. In fact, tests show that waiting to control quackgrass can cost you up to 14 bushels per acre. That's because quackgrass is an aggressive competitor for soil moisture and plant nutrients.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE.

This year, stop quackgrass before it robs you of yield and profit. Ask your dealer for the early, economical control of Roundup herbicide.

Floral Crop Ready For Easter Harvest

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — While area field crop producers are gearing up for the spring planting season, Joe Hoffman is overseeing last minute details of the harvest.

Hoffman's crop is a fragrant and colorful one, a sprintime array of lilies, hyacinths, daffodills, and chrysanthemums. The Easter potted plant crop is the first of several seasonal harvests taken annually from the 40,000 square feet of glass and plastic greenhouses at Aug. H. Schaefer Flowers, 145 North Albemarle Street.

As lilies and hyacinths waft their perfume through the airy, warm greenhouse environment, dozens of other sorts of plants in various stages of growth fill bench and floor space and cascade from overhead. Employees are busy planting tiny seedlings to market packs, blooming size plants get repotted into larger, specimen containers, and pastel buds are beginning to peek out from beneath the graceful foliage of hanging baskets.

Christmas poinsettia cuttings will arrive shortly, even before space is vacated by flats of bedding flowers and vegetable plants. And before the Memorial Day weekend rush for colorful geraniums, Joe Hoffman is looking ahead to ordering Easter bulbs for 1995.

"We work 10 monthys to a year ahead in planning and ordering," says Hoffman, from his office haven in a secluded corner between the busy greenhouses and the retail shop.

Joe Hoffman grew up on a northern York County general livestock and crops farm near Dover. As a young man, he decided he preferred a career away from the long hours and hard work of agriculture, and earned a degree in mechanical engineering. But after many years working at that field in the corporate world, Hoffman felt it was again time for a change of direction.

"I needed a new set of problems," he quietly chuckles, adding, "I had no illusions that going into business for myself would be easy or take less time."

After one particularly frustrating day in his mechanical engineering position, he called the owner of Aug. H. Schaefer Flowers, which he had learned might be for sale. A few months later, in July 1981, Joe Hoffman was in the greenhouse-florist business.

It was a major career direction change for a man who says with a grin that he barely knew the difference between a marigold and a geranium. But Hoffman had spent an intense few months researching the operation with the owner and accountants, and believed it to be a viable business venture for him to undertake. In addition, the previous owner was eager to teach Hoffman the greenhouse business.

While there was much for him to learn, absorb, and digest about the floral cultivation and retailing business, he recalls not worrying too much originally about success or failure in his new venture.

"I didn't know enough to worry," he jokes. "After a few years of experience, I knew enough to worry. But you reach a point where you quit worrying and concentrate on what can be addressed."

Aug. H. Schaefer employees Helen Hyder, left, and Elsie Winter transplant impatiens seedlings.

Instead, Hoffman directs his energies into planning and paying attention to details he can manage and control. Months ahead of each planting or holiday season, he will have scheduled down almost to the last pot or pack just how many bulbs, how many varieties, how many different colorsl of each particular plant will be marketed.

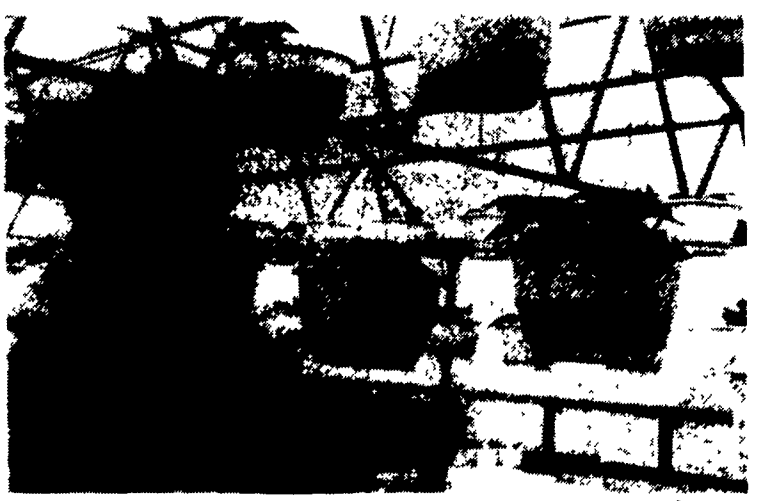
One crop factor he shares with all growers - no control ovelr the weather.

"But weather is not really that big a factor, because we grow inside. You do have to make allowances for the changeableness of temperatures, but that can be handled with ventilation. And we don't have to rely on rain," he explains.

Most critical weather uncontrollable is sunshine. Shading materials are used as needed to avoid burning and overheating plants in hot, bright weather. Sunshine, or the lack of it, impacts the watering needs of the plants and blooming schedules, especially critical to holiday plants that need to be at peak bloom within a few-day customer demand period.

"Two days after Easter, those potted bulb plants are virtually worthless," says Hoffman of the tiny "sales window" for which seasonal floral growers and retailers must aim.

Hoffman feels this year's extreme winter cold had a minimal effect on greenhyouse operations, though causing what he estimates was a ten-percent increase in heating costs. Although he had no weather-related damages to facilities, many producers did have greenhouses collapse under the weight of heavy snow and ice.



Joe Hoffman checks the progress of hanging baskets, being grown for the busiest "flower" holiday of the year, Mother's Day.

Like any successful marketing business, customers demand is what drives the final production decisions in this retail-oriented and service company.

"I track plant trends by our sales here," Hoffman says of letting the customers be the ultimate determining factor in choice of color and varieties are grown. "If the industry says the trend is to pinhk geraniums and our customers are buying red ones — we grow red ones."

Voluminous notes he keeps help Hoffman track the successes and less-in-demand plants from each major retailing season. That comprises the data bank of information he reviews when planning an dordering for the next year's seasonal crop and producing to meet changing trends in the gardening and floral industry.

"Customers are buying more easy-care plants, like impatiens instead of petunias, because they take less ongoing care. And we used to grow lots of materials for customers to plant hanging baskets; now they prefer buying them already planted," observes Hoffman.

He also sees a continuing decline in demand for vegetable plants. Customers who do plant vegetables, he says, are planting fewer of them, but starting with larger, well-started plants rather than small transplants.

Transportation plays a large role in the changing greehouse business, Hoffman believes. Both food and cut flowers can more readily be shipped from distant areas where climate conditions makes their production easier and more cost-effective.

When the Schaefer firm went into business in 1903, the flowers used for the arrangements designed and sold by the retail shop were grown on-site. Now, with improved more-durable varieties, refrigerated shipping and hours-away air transportation, flowers grown all over the world go into the designs delivered by the Schaefer delivery vans.

South American counties are major suppliers of cut floral materials for the United States, along with Mexico and Hawaii. Israel has great potential, Hoffman says, to become a major cut flower source, limited only by water supplies. While many varieties are also grown domestically in warmer southern states, Hoffman estimates that volume to be only half of what it once was.

"Cut flowers are a stable, predictable market," relates Hoffman, with demand peaking during such flower-oriented holidays as Valentine's or Mothers' Day. But even cut flower buying trends are changing, as fresh bouquets become more available at supermarkets and conevnience stores.

"Floral shops are a service industry; we offer buyers a service," Hoffman emphasizes. "We deliver, we make something special the customer can't get somewhere else. The greenhouses are really a separate business. There,

Chrysanthemums are one of the most popular Easter — season flowers at the Aug. H. Schaefer florist business. This greenhouse full of these customer favorites will offer buyers a variety of color and size selection.

Olympic Silver Medalists Enjoy Milk

Maia Usova and Alexander Zhulin, 1994 Olympic Silver Medalists, enjoy a refreshing glass of milk before their preformance at the 68th Annual Coronation Ice Show at the Olympic Arena in Lake Placid, New York.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The American Dairy Assocation and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) helped sposnor a recent event in Lake Placid, New York where Maia Usova and Alexander Zhulin, reigning World Champions in Ice Dancing and current Olympic Silver Medalists, were honored as King and Queen of the 68th Annual Coronation Ice Show.

Rick Naczi, chief executive officer of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC), said he was delighted that Usova and Zhulin enjoyed a fresh cold glass of milk before their performance at the ice show.

Naczi was also pleased Stacy Martin, daughter of dairy farmer David Martin from Gouverneur, was among the skaters at the ice show. Martin attends the National Sports Academy at Lake Placid and has been skating since she was four years old. She recently placed 6th in ice skating at the Empire State Games and would like to skate professionally upon graudation from high school.

Although skating is Stacy's first love, she has found time to serve as vice president of the Jr. Guernsey Breeders Association and is a member of the National American Guernsey Association. In 1993, at the New York State Fair, Stacy received the Master Showmanship Award which she deemed quite an accomplishment. She admits, however, that meeting Usova and Zhulin and other world ice skating champions is even a bigger thrill.

we produce a product."

Like most agriculture-related businesses, greenhouse operations are becoming fewer, but larger.

"You need a certain amount of square feet to make a living from it. Land where greenhouses are located is generally very valuable and many are closing down because of that. Those remaining get larger. There's also a tendency toward specializing in a plant or a product and growing that specialty very well," says this greenhouse grower, adding with a smile, "We still grow 200 different things here, from ageratums to zinnias."

Most are also still grown from seed at Schaefer's, though much of the industry is moving toward growing from "plugs," started seedlings rooted in tiny cylinders of soil. Technology is hastening such changes, with automated equipment that sows seeds and transplants seedlings. Such modernization will shomewhat diminish the need for labor, one of a greenhouse operation's most costly expenses.

Business details, labor management, maintenance, accounting, and paperwlork increasingly take larger chunks of Hoffman's busy schedule. Often, he relates, days pass before he sees some parts of the greenhouse complex. But he does "get his fingers in the dirt" occasionally and finds that side of the business to be relaxing.

"I would never want to go back to punching a clock," he insists of the horticulture enterprise and retail shop, which keep him busy far longer than corporate 40-hour work week.

"There are many kinds of worlds in our society; this is just a different world for me than the one I had before."

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

A hint of "empty nest syndrome" always haunts my maternal instincts this time of year.

That's because our nestlings have soared away on their own wings, leaving me behind with no one to help cook, color, hunt, and hide those eggs that figure prominently into the season. Nor are there as many justifiable excuses for laying in nest supplies — like chocolate bunnies, marshmallow peeps, and jelly beans.

But if the house nest is less occupied by nestlings (though much of their "nesting materials" remain behind under Mother and Father Bird's wings), the rest of the farmstead overflows with nests in abundance.

As the thick ice on the pond melted out under warming sunshine and gentler breezes, weather damage became apparent at one of the farmstead's prime nesting sites. A glance toward the pond early one morning, to check the presence of our new Canada goose resident pair, warned of the nest's imminent disappearance.

The covered platform The Farmer had installed mid-pond several springs ago was tilting at a steep angle into the water. Apparently the freeze-expansion of the ice had separated the platform from the supporting posts sunk into the pond bottom.

And the geese were already exploring and poking around what little bit of the structure remained above the water surface.

So it came to be that, on a brisk, late-March morning, we paddled the canoe through still-icy waters to make repairs. Carefully balancing our weight in the "tippy" craft, we lifted, wired and respiked the structure to the supports — an unplanned swim had no appeal.

Then, while I steadied the canoe with one paddle, The Farmer used the other to lift out the soggy, rotted old nest materials from the platform floor. Then we turned the boat and I stuffed onto the platform a thick pile of grass hay we'd brought along to refurnish the nest.

The geese honked furiously from the pond bank during the few minutes it took us to repair and refurbish the nest site. As we paddled back to the pier, they passed us on their way out to inspect the "island."

And before we were halfway back to the house, the female was in the nest, busily rearranging grass with her beak.

Less visible but farther underway are nesting efforts in the old bank barn.

Near one corner of the upper floor of the bank barn is a large opening where big, round bales of bedding can be dropped into the heifer pen beneath. Between that access opening and the wall is a narrow, maybe eight-inch-wide, ledge. On that narrow ledge sits a small black hen, hatching out a nest of eggs. It's a precarious homesite; one misstep out of the nest and she'll be airborne.

Just across the bedding access hole sits a wagonload of hay that has been parked there through the winter. While leaning against the wagon, pondering if we should relocate the black hen's narrow-ledge nest site, something caught my eye.

Barely a foot away, at eye level, a pair of beady black eyes gazed back at mine. My immediate reaction was to duck, but the honey-colored hen never moved. How she plans to get her chicks from his nest, hunkered down deep in the straw bales several feet up in the wagon, is a mystery.

And I used to think the kids came up with strange places to hide eggs.....

Willy's Finnsheep Gives Birth To Five Lambs

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

SCHELLSBURG (Bedford Co.) — Nine-year-old Willy Martin has been especially happy with his own small flock of sheep this spring.

One of his ewe Finnsheep had five lambs at one time. Willy says Finnsheep are noted for having more than one lamb at a time. "Dad says he read somewhere that one ewe had eight," he says. "But three or four are more common, I am really happy with five."

Willy has three ewes, three rams, and 11 lambs of his own.

Finnsheep have very long and fine wool which Willy feels should be good for spinning.

Willy lives on a 107-acre sheep farm with his dad and mom, Dave and Karen, his brothers, Louie, 10; and Tim, 4; and one sister, Sarah, 7. Willie, Louie, and Sarah all attend the Chestnut Ridge School.

Louie has three rams and three ewes, all Dorsets. The ewes will have lambs later this spring.

Both Louie and Willy help with feeding and shearing their own sheep. "These boys take a lot of pride in their sheep," says their dad.

They are very particular about what their sheep eat because they know this is what makes healthy sheep which have healthy lambs.

The family grows all of the hay and most of the grain which the sheep eat. They pasture them as long as possible.

The boys enter their sheep in the Bedford County Fair, and this coming year, will be old enough to participate in the prize divisions.

Louie and Willy also have pig projects for 4-H which won them a second-place award at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show. They also placed first and second at Keystone competition. Both are members of the Shawnee Lakers 4-H Club.

Finnsheep were originally imported from Finland, a Scandinavian country located in the far northern part of Europe. The Finnish people are well known for their farming abilities, especially dairy animals and sheep.

Solanco Holds FFA Contests

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Solanco School District hosted two FFA County Contests recently: the dairy foods contest and the agriculture mechanics contest.

Students from seven county school districts participated in the contests, including Solanco, Lancaster Mennonite, Ephrata, Penn Manor, Garden Spot, Manheim Central, and Pequea Valley.

Gus Birchler, Penn Manor agriculture teacher, was the chairman for the dairy foods contest, which was held at the Memorial United Methodist Church in Quarryville. The students were required to take a general knowledge written examination, followed by several "hands-on" evaluation stations which tested their knowledge of dairy foods. The various stations included milk flavor evaluation, California mastitis test, milker units test, identification of cheeses, and real vs. artificial dairy products.

The tests challenged the participants in the contest to identify 10 types of cheeses, evaluate the flavor of 10 different flavors of milk, checking milk for the presence of mastitis by performing the California mastitis test, identify defects on milker parts, and identify which dairy products displayed are real and which are artificial including cheese, butter, whipped cream, creamer, and ice cream.

The results of the dairy foods contest are as follows:

Individual winners: 1. Tony Miller, Pequea Valley; 2. Cathy Hurst, Ephrata; 3. Joel Hoover, Pequea Valley; 4. Randy Miller, Pequea Valley; 5. Joel Fry, Penn Manor; 6. Keith Bollinger, Ephrata; 7. Jessica Hostetter, Penn Manor; 8. Joe Best, Penn Manor.

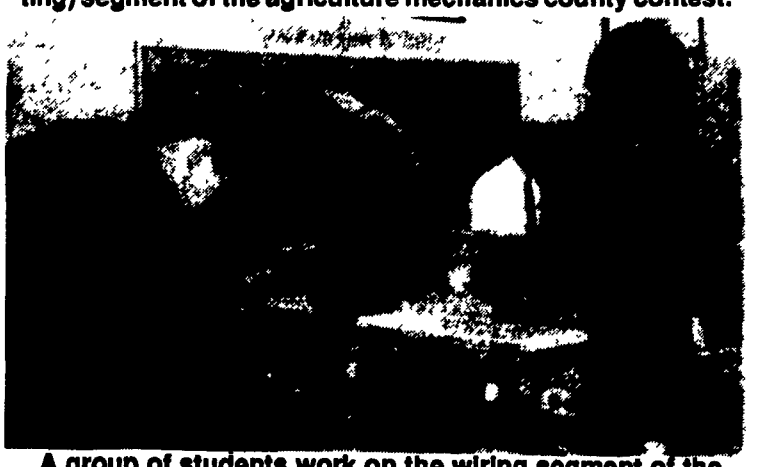
Team winners: 1. Pequea Valley; 2. Penn Manor; 3. Ephrata; 4. Solanco; 5. Garden Spot; 6. Lancaster Mennonite; 7. Manheim Central.

Carey Kalupson, Solanco High School agriculture teacher, was the chairman for the agriculture mechanics contest, which was held in the Solanco High School Agriculture Mechanics classroom. Eighteen students participated in the contest from five different school districts. The contest included a written exam. The hands-on requirements of the contest were broken down into two areas: problem solving and skills.

Under problem solving were soil and water tests, a small engine test, and building construction. Under the skills category, students were required to demonstrate their knowledge and skills in baler identification, gas cut welding skills, and electrical wiring skills.

Individual results in the Agriculture Mechanics Contest are as follows: 1. Travis Hartranft, Manheim Central; 2. Travis Metzler, Pequea Valley; 3. Will Stoner - Manheim Central; 4. Barry Graver, Penn Manor; 5. Jerry O'Donnell, Solanco; 6. Donnie Ammerman, Solanco; 7. Neil Ebersole, Penn Manor; 8. Jeff Hershey, Manheim Central; 9. Dwayne Graver, Penn Manor; 10. Marvin Martin, Ephrata; 11. Kevin Martin, Ephrata; 12. Dave Roland, Solanco; 13. Shawn Perry, Solanco; 14. Matt Wenger, Ephrata; 15. Dave Parker, Penn Manor; 16. Stan Knight, Penn Manor.

Kevin Martin, Ephrata, works on the gas cut (torch cutting) segment of the agriculture mechanics county contest.



A group of students work on the wiring segment of the agriculture mechanics contest during the county FFA contests held at Solanco High School.

Egg Breaking Recipes

Hard to believe, but it's still possible to serve dinner for under a dollar a serving.

Most of us need to pinch pennies from time to time and dollar-wise dinners make it possible.

Protein is an essential part of a nutritious diet but protein foods can be the most expensive items on a grocery list.

Eggs provide very high quality protein at a very low price. In fact, one large egg provides enough protein to equal one ounce of meat, fish or poultry. Two eggs can substitute for other protein foods as a main dish. Or eggs can be used to stretch more expensive protein meals.

That means you can serve a crab quiche, ham scramble or spinach and cheese souffle for about 50 to 60 cents a serving or less.

Eggs have no bone, fat or gristle waste. A dozen large eggs weighs 1½ pounds so the price per pound of large eggs equals two-thirds of the price per dozen. If large eggs cost 90 cents per dozen, they're 60 cents per pound.

For a free leaflet of money-saving ideas, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-sized envelope to the Incredible Edible Egg #38, P.O. Box 755, Park Ridge, IL 60068-0755.

Eggs have become associated with Easter because the new life that breaks forth from an egg is symbolic of Christ's resurrection from the grave.

CHERRY FROZEN CUSTARD CREAM

6 eggs
2 cups skim milk
1 cup sugar, divided
¼ teaspoon salt
2 pounds dark sweet cherries, pitted
2 cups whipping cream
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon vanilla
Crushed ice
Rock salt

In a medium saucepan, beat together eggs, milk, ½ cup sugar and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and just coats a metal spoon. Cool quickly by setting pan in ice or cold water and stirring for a few minutes. Cover and refrigerate until thoroughly chilled, at least 1 hour.

Reserve several cherries for garnish, if desird. Combine remaining cherries nd remaining sugar in blender container. Cover and blend until cherries are pureed, about 1 minute. Cover and refrigerate cherry mixture until chilled and sugar is dissolved, at least 30 minutes.

When ready to freeze, pour chilled custard, whipping cream, almond extract and vanilla into 1-gallon ice cream freezer can. Partially freeze according to manufacturer's directions, using 6 parts ice to 1 part rock salt. When partially frozen, add cherry puree. Complete freezing. Garnish with reserved cherries, if desired. Makes about 2 quarts.

SOFT STIRRED CUSTARD

4 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla

In large saucepan, blend together eggs, sugar, and salt. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and just coats a metal spoon. Stir in vanilla. Cool quickly by setting pan in bowl of ice or cold water and stirring for a few mintues. Cover and refrigerate. Chill thoroughly.

POACHED EGGS

A skillet or flat saucepan is the best utensil for poaching eggs, unless you have a patented poacher of one type of another. You should have water deep enough to cover the eggs. Add a little salt and a tablespoon of vinegar to the water. When it is boiling rapidly, break the eggs and drop them in carefully or slide them from a saucer and let them cook until set. Lift them out with a large perforated spoon or skimmer.

Reddi-Wip Warm Lemon Pudding with Biscuits

Sauce

1 tablespoon white rum
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup lemon juice
15 egg yolks
1 can Reddi-wip

Mix rum, sugar, lemon juice and egg yolks in medium saucepan. Whisk constantly, cooking on moderate heat until mixture thickens. Transfer to a bowl and set in ice bath to cool. When cool, fold in one can of Reddi-wip blending until smooth.

Biscuits

2¼ cups flour
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons unsalted butter
½ cup heavy cream
¼ cup buttermilk

Heat oven to 350¢. Combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in large bowl. Cut in butter until mixture is coarse and mealy. Add cream and buttermilk; knead until dough forms a ball. Place dough on floured surface and roll to 1-inch thickness. Using a 2¾-inch biscuit cutter, cut out 8 biscuits (it will be necessary to re-roll dough). Place on cookie sheet and bake for 25 to 30 minutes, or until biscuits have risen and are golden.

To serve, split biscuits in half. Place one half on serving dish. Spoon some of the lemon pudding on biscuit. Top with remaining biscuit. Garnish with Reddi-wip and a lemon slice.

Consuming Thoughts

Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension
Home Economist
For Berks Co.

Because of the "stay awake" or "pick-me-up" properties of caffeine, some people try to reduce the amount of caffeine in their diets by reducing the amount of coffee they drink. Coffee is not the only culprit, however. There are many sources of caffeine, and you and your family may be ingesting more of this stimulant than you realize.

The caffeine that people consume may come from a number of different things, including coffee, tea, soft drinks, and some types of medication.

Some of the effects of consuming excess caffeine can include headaches, jitteriness, anxiety, sleep disorders, depressions, irritability, and upset stomach. How much a person feels these effects depends on individual sensitivity to caffeine.

Parents should be aware that while their children may not drink coffee, they may be getting caffeine from other sources. Children, because of their smaller size and lack of a built-up tolerance to caffeine, may have much stronger reactions to caffeine than their parents do.

The amount of caffeine in coffee, one of the more common dietary sources of caffeine, depends on many factors, including the type of coffee bean and how the coffee was made. Brewed drip coffee, for instance, may contain from 60 to 180 mg. of caffeine per 5-ounce cup, while instant coffee contains approximately half as much. Many typical coffee mugs hold well over 5 ounces. Brewed black tea can range from 20 to 90 mg. of caffeine per 5-ounce cup. Instant tea contains 25-50 mg.

A 5-ounce cup of cocoa averages only 4 mg. of caffeine, or about as much as an 8-ounce glass of chocolate milk or a 1-ounce milk chocolate bar. Cola type soft drinks can contain about 45 mg. of caffeine per 12-ounce serving, but colas aren't the only soft drinks that contain caffeine; pepper-type soft drinks and even some of the lighter-colored soft drinks also may contain the stimulant. The ingredient label will indicate if caffeine is present.

In fact, some processors who make decaffeinated coffee sell the caffeine removed from the coffee to soft drink manufacturers, who add it to their beverages.

Non-prescription weight control drugs, alertness tablets, pain relievers, diuretics and cold or allergy remedies may also contain caffeine in significant amounts.

An adult who drinks a couple cups of coffee, takes a pain reliever or diet pills, enjoys a soda in the afternoon and a cup of cocoa before bed may be getting a large dose of caffeine — large enough to suffer some opf the side-effects of the stimulant.

Children with a taste for soda and chocolate may also be getting too much caffeine if their diets aren't regulated to control the amount of soda and chocolate they consume.

People don't need caffeine, so it can be completely eliminated from the diet. People who think caffeine may be causing problems for them or their children can try cutting down, or eliminating it. If your body is used to caffeine, you may experience certain side effects such as headaches from a sudden withdrawal. If you notice any of these side effects, decrease your intake of caffeine gradually.

Check labels for products that may contain caffeine; if it is an added ingredient, it should be listed. (The caffeine content of coffee is not listed on the label, because it is naturally present, not added.)

HOLTWOOD (Lancaster Co.) — As the snow melts and is replaced by the sights and sounds of spring, the wildflowers will begin to bloom at the majestic Shenk's Ferry Wildflower Preserve off Green Hill Road in Martic Township.

In anticipation of the flowers that will soon replace the snow, Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.'s Holtwood Land Management office, which operates the wildflower preserve, has scheduled seven guided wildflower walks for April. The hikes will be held on the following days: April 9 at 1 p.m., April 17 at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., April 23 at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., April 24 at 2 p.m., and April 25 at 1 p.m.

All hikes begin at the preserve's trailhead. The walks are free and led by the Holtwood naturalist.

Advance registration is required for all the guided walks. Groups are limited to 25 people. To register, call the office at (717) 284-2278.

Shenk's Ferry Wildflower Preserve is a unique area where more than 130 species of flowers bloom from March through September. It is one of the best places on the East Coast to see wildflowers in April and May.

You don't have to be part of a tour to visit the preserve, which is open every day. A naturalist is usually available to answer questions Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The naturalist wears a name tag and hat with the PP&L logo for easy identification.

Handouts, including a wildflower checklist, are available at the bulletin board in the preserve. Please observe all the rules when visiting the preserve to help PP&L maintain this unique botanical area.

Horseback riding no longer will be permitted at the preserve on weekends during April and May.

ANSWER — Vicky Mitchell, Fairbanks, Alaska, wanted a recipe for extra sour rye bread with caraway seeds. Thanks to Susan Weaver, Richfield, for sending a recipe.

Sour Rye Bread With Caraway Seeds

1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
Pinch sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup tepid water
2 cups active rye sourdough starter (recipe following) stirred down before measuring, at room temperature.
3 tablespoons caraway seeds
1 cup medium rye flour
1 cup gluten flour
2½ -3 cups all-purpose flour
Cornmeal for sprinkling the baking sheet

Glaze: 1 teaspoon cornstarch cooked in ⅔ cup water until clear (2 to 3 minutes). Then cooled. Combine the yeast, warm water, and sugar, and let stand until foamy. Dissolve the salt in the tepid water and stir the mixture into the sourdough starter. Beat in the yeast mixture, then the caraway seeds. Beat in the rye flour, about ½ cup at a time, then beat in the gluten flour.

Spread 2 cups of the all-purpose flour in a ring on the counter and pour the dough into the center of the ring. Mix roughly with a dough scraper or pancake turner, then knead just until thoroughly mixed, adding as much of the remaining white flour as necessary to make a medium stiff dough, not too heavy.

Scrape the kneading surface, dust it with rye flour and knead thoroughly until it is smooth and elastic. Don't overflour the board, keep the dough medium stiff, not heavy.

Place the dough in an ungreased bowl, cover with plastic and let rise until double, at least one hour.

Turn the dough into kneading surface dusted lightly with rye flour. Expel the air from it and form into 2 balls. Cover with a towel and let rest 20 minutes. Sprinkle cornmeal on a large 11x17-inch baking sheet.

Flatten each ball of dough into an oval about 12-inches long and 1-inch thick. Beginning at long edge, roll the dough up and pinch the seam closed. Make a slightly pointed oval loaf about 12-inches long and higher than it is wide. Place seam down on the cormeal covered baking sheet. Repeat with second half of the dough, leaving ample space between the loaves.

Cover the loaves with a towel and let rise until they are almost doubled.

Preheat oven to 425 degrees and put a large shallow pan containing 2-inches of boiling water on the lowest shelf in your oven.

Brush the loaves with the cornstarch glaze. With a very sharp knife, held almost parallel to the surface, cut 3 diagonal slits ¼ -inch deep in the top of each.

Bake for 15 mintues, then lower the heat to 350 degrees; remove pan of water, and bake 30 minutes longer. Brush the loaves again with the glaze. Set them directly on the oven shelves for 10-13 minutes or until there is a hollow sound when you rap on the bottom.

Cool on a rack, uncovered. Wrap in plastic and store at room temperature. The bread may be frozen.

Rye Sourdough Starter

1 package dry yeast
3 cups tepid water
3½ cups medium rye flour
1 small onion, peeled and halved

Dissolve the yeast in 2 cups of the tepid water, then beat in 2 cups of the rye flour, beating until no lumps remain. Add the onion, cover loosely with a cloth, and let stand at room temperature for 24 hours.

Remove the onion. Beat in 1 cup tepid water, then 1½ cups rye flour. Cover with the cloth and let stand for 24 hours longer. The starter should now be pleasantly sour smelling and bubbly. Depending on room temperature a slightly longer of shorter time of fermentation may be needed.

To use: The starter is now ready for use and can be refrigerated for up to 24 hours before use, without further feeding. If you must hold the starter longer before use, the night before it is wanted, add ½ cup tepid water and ¾ cup rye flour and let it stand at room temperature overnight.

When you feed left-over starter, which should be done every 2 weeks or so, add a little rye flour and water, using 3 parts of flour to 2 parts water. To build up a small amount of starter to a quantity large enough for baking, do the job in several steps, never adding a larger measure of flour than the amount of starter on hand.

Let the starter stand at room temperature overnight or up to 24 hours until it is bubbly and no longer smells floury. To increase further, add more flour and water in the same proportions and again let the starter ferment until it is bubbly enough to use. Store leftover starter in the refrigerature before bakings and feedings; and for indefinite storage, freeze it. Thaw, then feed the starter and let it ferment at room temperature until it is bubbly enough to use again.

ASPARAGUS CREPES MORNAY

8 crepes (recipe follows)
Mornay sauce (recipe follows)
1 pound fresh asparagus, cleaned and trimmed
6 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
¼ teaspoon salt
Parsley, optional

Prepare crepes and mornay sauce. Cook asparagus until crisp-tender, about 10 to 15 minutes. Drain. Divide asparagus spears between crepes.

Combine eggs with ½ cup mornay sauce and salt. Spoon egg mixture evenly over asparagus on each crepe. Roll up crepes and place in greased 9x13-inch pan. Pour remaining sauce over crepes. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

Garnish with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Crepes:
2 eggs
½ cup milk
½ cup water
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
butter, melted

Combine first 4 ingredients. Beat with mixer until well-blended. Add flour and salt. Beat until smooth.

Heat 8 to 10-inch crepe or omelet pan over medium high heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Brush pan lightly with melted butter. Pour in just enough batter (about 2 to 3 tablespoons) to cover bottom of pan, tipping and tilting pan to move batter quickly over bottom. Cook until lightly browned on bottom and dry on top. Remove from pan. Brush pan with butter as needed to prevent sticking and repeat process.

Mornay Sauce:
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1½ cups milk
¾ cup shredded Swiss cheese
3 tablespoons parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons lemon juice

In medium saucepan, melt butter. Blend in flour and seasonings. Cook, stirring constantly over medium-high heat until smooth and bubbly. Stir in milk all at once. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in cheeses until melted. Stir in lemon juice.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Kendra Hilt, Canisteo, N.Y., wanted a recipe for sopaipillas. Thanks to Doris Dibert, Everett; Kathy Keeny, Glen Rock; Rhoda Conover, Gettysburg, and others for sending recipes.

Sopaipillas
Spanish Bread

4 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons liquid shortening
1½ cups lukewarm water

Mix together all ingredients and rub in shortening. Add enough water and mix until dough is of right consistency and not sticky.

Cover dough in bowl with wet cloth and let set at least 30 minutes. Heat fat in deep fryer or heavy skillet to 365 degrees.

Divide dough into several balls. Roll out a ball of dough very flat, about ⅛ -inch thick. Cut into 3-inch squares. Drop a square of dough into the hot fat, and immediately spoon the hot fat over the dough with a ladle, which causes it to puff up. Turn — these fry quickly, about 2 minutes per side. With a slotted spoon, lay out onto paper towel; keep warm in oven. These are best to eat when hot.

Note. Half a recipe serves 3. Leftover dough can be put in a plastic bag and kept in refrigerator for several days.

Doris writes: My husband and I learned to love these while working among the Navajo Indians in northwestern New Mexico, where they were served in Spanish restaurants.

They are tasty with any Spanish dishes or with chili, spaghetti or stews. Are also delicious split open with butter and jelly on the inside. Some people serve Sopaipillas (pronounced so-pe-a-pe'a) as a dessert, shaking confectioners' sugar over them.

Sopaipillas

1¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons shortening
⅔ cup cold water

Mix together dry ingredients into bowl, cut in shortening until particles are size of peas. Add water, mixing with fork until flour is moistened. Knead gently on lightly floured board until smooth.

Roll out about ⅛ -inch thick, cut into 3-inch squares. Deep fry a few at a time, turning over 5 or 6 times so they puff up evenly. Fry until golden brown and serve with honey.

Rhoda writes that these were served at a Mexican restaurant in Denver, Col.

ANSWER — Bette Lawrence, Honesdale, wanted a recipe for pear jam or pear jelly that uses green tomatoes as an ingredient. Thanks to a reader for sending the following recipe.

Tomato-Pear Preserves

1 orange
2 lemons
3 pounds tomatoes, small and firm
2 pounds pears
5 cups sugar
2 tablespoons crystallized ginger

Squeeze orange and lemons; reserve juice. Cut citrus peel into narrow strips. Cover with water, bring to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer 15 minutes. Drain. Scald tomatoes and remove skins. Peel and core pears and slice. Combine lemon juice, peels, tomatoes, pears, and remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer until desired consistency is reached, about 2 hours.

Ladle into hot sterilized jars, seal, and process 5 minutes in boiling water bath. Makes four pints.

Scratch Egg Art

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

YORK SPRINGS (Adams Co.) — When Nickolina Jacoby sees an egg, she thinks of scratching it instead of scrambling it.

The York Springs woman is a self-taught expert in the craft of making ornate scratch egg art out of common, everyday hardboiled eggs.

Everyone gets help from mom, Nickolina Jacoby, as they decorate their eggs for the holiday.

Emmanuel Jacoby uses a screw to start his scratching.

Sarah, Luther and Bethany Jacoby try their hands at scratching eggs.

Jacoby said she began to teach herself the craft 12 years ago while she was living with a farm family near York Springs.

She became interested in the craft after she ran across a reference to scratch eggs when she was looking up information on Ukrainian egg decorating.

It looked like just the thing for her, she said, so she found out all that she could about the technique. Then, she began to experiment.

Jacoby remembered that one time when she took some of her eggs to the nearby Brethren Home, some of the senior citizens who live there recalled how their fathers or grandfathers used to scratch out designs, like bunnies, on eggs.

In the years that she has been practicing her art, Jacoby has given presentations about the craft to homemaker's groups and church functions. She said she also has displayed her eggs alongside the handmade furniture her husband makes at various craft shows.

Jacoby said she has also done an egg on a paid commission. "It was a dragon," she said.

Another time, she sold an egg tree during an auction to raise money for a public television station, she said.

To make the eggy art, Jacoby said you must start with unblemished and uncracked eggs. She says she likes to use eggs from free-running chickens better than commercial eggs. The eggs from the store have a much thinner shell and break much easier, she explained.

Although she works with hardboiled eggs, Jacoby said scratch art can be done on blown eggs, but when you are working with kids it is a much better idea to use hardboiled eggs.

Once you have selected your eggs, Jacoby said you should layer them in a kettle with onion skins — put a layer of onion skins in the kettle, then a layer of eggs, then another layer of onion skins.

Cover the skins and eggs with water, bring to a boil and simmer for about two hours. That will help the eggs to keep, she said. The oldest egg she has is seven years old.

After simmering, you should remove the eggs while they are still hot and dry them on towels. Check for cracks and throw away those that are cracked. Jacoby said you can wait a day or so if you want to see if more cracks appear.

To make your designs, you should use a sharp implement that is comfortable to hold, like an X-acto knife. She uses an X-acto knife for her scratching, but for children she has discovered that a drywall screw works well because it has a sharp point and it stays sharp because it is made of hardened steel.

Jacoby said she has been told and read that people used to use jack knives and darning needles to do the scratching.

Choose designs that appeal to you. You can find designs from fraktur art, books and magazines.

The designs can be as elaborate or as simple as you want.

"The craft can be very interesting to children," she said. She knows because her four children, Emmanuel, Bethany, Luther, and Sarah, all are interested in the craft.

"Older children have better eye-hand coordination and can handle the egg and the scratching tool easier, but the young kids seem to just have fun trying to decorate their eggs with a few sratches here and there," Jacoby said.

She said that, the longer you work on an egg, the more detail and charm it will have. You should experiment with your tool and use its point for fine lines and the edge for shading.

Jacoby said you also can experiment with natural dyes, like those made from beets and red cabbage.

You should'nt worry if your egg starts to rattle when it gets older. The eggs will start to do that because they will dry up on the inside, but there will be no smell as long as the shell of the egg remains whole.

Compile Lasting Memories

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Perhaps you shunned allowing your photographs to accumulate in a shoebox. Instead, you painstakingly arranged them in an album complete with photo descriptions and various memorabilia such as newspapers clippings and travel brochures to describe the pictures.

You think you did a great job — now.

But take a look in another 10 years or so, and you will be dismayed to see that the photos have yellow staining and the newsclippings have disintergrated.

"You would have been better off if you had stored the pictures in a shoebox," says Jeannie Angelo Ruth of Furnace Hills Pike, Lititz.

"Most scrapbooks have so much acid in the paper that it bleeds into the photos and deteriotes them," she said.

The worst culprit of all the scrapbooks, according to Jeannie, is the magnetic albums. These are made with cardboard pages that grip photographs on a sticky adhesive coating covered by a layer of plastic that is peeled back to position photos.

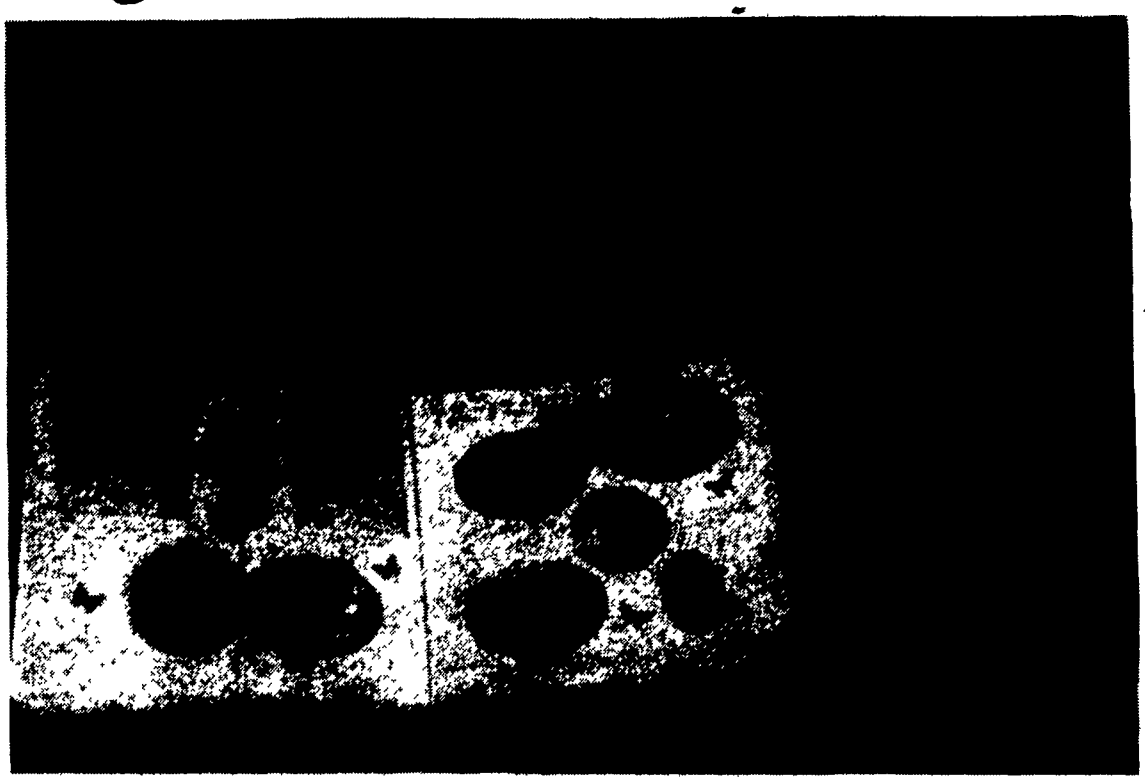
These adhesives give off peroxides that cause yellow staining and the plastic coating gives off gases that attack photographic images.

The books with plastic pockets cause problems because the bindings are often weak, and the plastic often contains PVC's that are especially damaging to colored pictures.

Jeannie teaches photo preservation and organization classes. She is also a Creative Memories consultant, who sells acid-free albums and safe-for-photo products and helps people compile scrapbooks.

Some safe-for-photo products are available in the better stationery stores. "Make sure it is labeled with 'No PVC's' somewhere on the album," Jeannie said.

(Turn to Page B16)



Jeannie Angelo Ruth compiles scrapbooks with the future in mind. She uses all photo-safe materials so that the pictures do not turn yellow or the pages disintergrate.

Laurie Berot Wears Lamb And Wool Queen Crown

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

Laurie Berot was crowned the 1994 Lamb and Wool Queen of Bedford County at a banquet held on Friday evening, March 18.

Laurie served as the 1993 first runner-up to outgoing queen, Tracey Henderson.

With a flock of her own sheep, Laurie has participated in all phases of raising sheep from showing them to shearing, to spinning the wool and knitting her own sweaters.

As the new queen, she plans to continue along the same path already established by Tracey and herself. "We were present at every public function we could attend," Laurie said in her speech preceding the judging. "And, we were delighted with the number of questions the public asked about sheep."

Laurie says she enjoys cooking lamb and has had recipes published in the Lancaster Farming.

Court for the new queen will consist of Beth Sarver and Chrissi Fochtman. All of the girls are students at Chestnut Ridge High School.

"Nothing looks more professional than a wool outfit," said Chrissi Fochtman in her contest speech."

The girls proved that statement with each wearing a stunning wool outfit. Chrissi wore a black wool skirt with checkered wool vest; Beth wore a beautiful emerald green wool with white lace collar; and Laurie wore a pink wool sweater and gray skirt.

In her final remarks as queen, Tracey Henderson said she participated in seven parades, numerous community events, the Somerset County Jackpot show, the sheep to shawl contest at the State Farm Show, and Special Olympics.

Her favorite activities, she said, was taking lambs to school where she was able to begin educating elementary children about raising sheep.

She had a similar experience when she took sheep to a local nursing home.

In the election of officers, Brian Barkley was elected president for the upcoming year; Rodney Fisher is vice president; and Sharon Weaver, secretary-treasurer. Dave Martin and Inci Willard were elected to the Board of Directors.

Laurie Berot is the 1994 Lamb and Wool Queen of Bedford County.

The lamb dinner was served by the members of the Church of the Brethren in Bedford.

Entertainment was provided by the Meistersingers of Northern Bedford County High School.

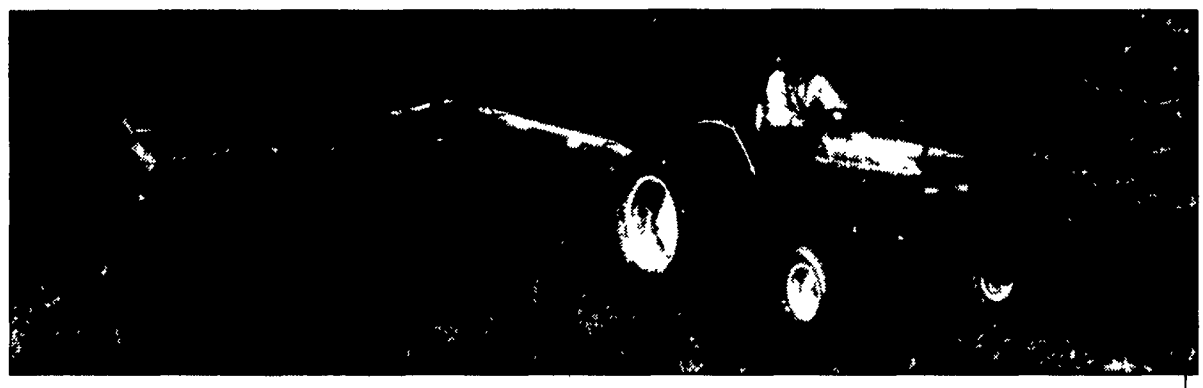
THE ALL-NEW MoCo's BY JOHN DEERE



NOBODY DOES HAY BETTER

NOBODY CUTS HAY BETTER. A 5-bar reel, new guards, and a 9-foot 9-inch cut give the 820 Sicklebar MoCo (above) a cleaner, 6-inch-wider cut. And an all-new, John Deere-built, rotary cutterbar makes the 920 and 930 MoCo's stronger and easier to maintain. All three use an innovative 3-point suspension for unbeatable flotation.

NOBODY CONDITIONS HAY BETTER. You can't beat the conditioning or simplicity. Choose John Deere urethane roll (sicklebar and rotary models) or V-tine impeller conditioning (rotaries only). All adjustments are made easily...many without tools. So matching field conditions is easy.

Compile Lasting Memories

In her classes, Jeannie covers points on the importance of family photo-history, the dangers of improper storage, where to begin, the basics of album design and layout and offers a hands-on implementation with professional coaching by having each member bring a packet of photographs and some memorabilia pertaining to that event.

When compiling an album, Jeannie suggests that a group of 10 to 20 pictures should be selected.

Lay out the pictures in the design you want to place them in the scrapbook. For those who like to add creative touches, Jeannie suggests offsetting, rotating, or shadow boxing snapshots.

Trim them with straight edges or in shapes before mounting on acid-free paper using photo-safe mounting supplies and a PCV-free pen to write descriptions below the photographs.

Newspaper clippings should be photocopied on PCV-free paper. A special-plastic sleeve is available for items that cannot be copied.

"Losing family stories is tragic," Jeannie said. "There is no point in putting photos in album that will fall apart."

For more information, call Jeannie at (717) 627-3779.

TIPS FOR COMPILING ALBUMS

- Select photo-safe albums and adhesives.
- Begin with the most recent photos and work your way backward.
- Keep one family album and one for each child.
- Document photos, give details of event, do some photo journaling.
- Get involved in creative cropping — trim pictures with too much sky, a thumb or camera strap. Use cookie cutters to trim photos into shapes such as hearts, circles, or a Christmas tree. Be carefule not to cut out the '79 car or hobby horse that defines an era.
- Do NOT cut Polaroid prints, as this can cause the image to deteriorate and the alkaline developing gel to irritate eyes and skin.
- Include special mementos — a lock of hair for first haircut, family vacation photos with post cards of area and use colorful stickers and cut-outs for enhancement.
- Don't put newspaper clippings across from photos, as acid content of paper will migrate and is harmful to photographs. Make photocopies of newsprint stories and keep originals in a cool, dry, dark, safe place.
- Do not store negatives in the same place as photos or both can get destroyed, and keep albums in an upright position and not in hot attics or damp basements. The best place for photos is in rooms where you live with an average temperature of 65 to 70 degrees and low humidity.

Introduce Children To Museum

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — "Wheeling Through the Museum" is a perfectly "fun" way to introduce youngsters ages 4-6 to the fascinating world of museums. Taught by Jan Dunkle, music teacher and museum docent, children wheel through the galleries, using a specially designed push toy, making stops in special exhibits where there are introduced to the displays through music, song and movement activities. A snack is included with the programs. The class will be held on Saturday, April 9, from 10-11 A.M. The cost for the class is $5 for museum members, $8 for non-members. The registration deadline is April 4. Call (717) 534-3439 for information.

A lamb will visit the museum for the class "This Is The Way To Spin The Wool" so that youngsters can see just where wool comes from and learn about its production. Children ages 7-9 will learn to card, spin, and weave. They'll be taught to use the cleaning cards, drop spindles, and spinning wheel. The class will be held on Saturday, April 9, from 10 a.m.-12 noon. The cost for the class is $6 for museum members and $9 for non-members. Patricia Longenecker is the teacher for the class.

Children's Workshop

CEREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — Do your kids enjoy playing in the dirt? How would you like to find out how to create garden projects for the whole family? Montgomery County Cooperative Extension will host a program entitled "Children's Gardens" on Wednesday evening, April 6, from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Master Gardener Rebecca Boylan has planned a seminar to help you learn some tricks for designing gardens with children in mind. She'll cover plant choices and ideas that make the garden accessible, safe, and fun for kids.

The "Children's Gardens" program will be held at the Montgomery County 4-H Center, in Creamery. The Montgomery County 4-H Center is located on Route 113, about 1 mile south of the intersection of Route 113 and Route 73, near Skippack. The cost to attend is $5 which includes all reference materials.

Reservations are necessary for this event. For a brochure including details and registration information, call the Montgomery County Cooperative Extension office at (215) 489-4315.

Secrets For A Bloomin' Garden

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — "Pick the right plant for the right conditions and save yourself a lot of trouble." said Dr. David Sandford to about 200 people attending the Penn State Garden Symposium held recently at the Farm and Home Center.

The day-long seminar touched on design, selection, and disease control of flowers, shrubs, and trees. Often problems with disease stem from the wrong amount of sun, moisture or soil conditions.

Most problems with dogwood trees stem from "lawn mower disease," according to David Sanford, horticulture professor. Bumping a tree with the lawn mower causes stress.

Plant varieties selected from northern climates are usually more vigorous than those purchased from the south. Scab, powdery mildew, leaf spot, and brown canker are other problems that can be diagnosed by an extension agent if a sample leaf is submitted.

One of the big attractions of the day was learning how to create a flower garden that looks entirely natural but in reality is planned in detail. Brent Heath of the Daffodil Mart of Gloucester, Va., told how bulbs can be used to create visual design. He said that his first daffodil blooms in January and the last one in May.

He encouraged the audience to think of their lawn as a large canvas for painting with flowers.

For visual impact in large areas, plant 50 to 100 bulbs in a group or plant in clumps.

After the flowers of bulbs die, the leaves and stems must be left to mature the bulb for the next growing season. Do not knot or tie the leaves with a knot or rubberband. Instead, interplant perennials in front of the dying foliage to hide it. Peonies and daylilies are good choices for hiding the dying foliage. Another possibility is to plug in impatients or other annuals between the daffodil foliage.

As a landscape architect, Wolfgang said that he restricts the use of annuals to containers. Bulbs, perennials, and shrubs are used for better weed control and easier maintenance.

While spring seems an easy season to fill with color by using daffodils, tulips, and azalea bushes, other seasons are a bit more difficult to plan and people often rely upon annuals. But Mr. Wolfgang from Oehme Van Sweden & Associations, Inc. in Washington, D.C., said that as a landscape architecture, he introduces perennials for four season interest.

Strive for low maintenance and plants that cover the area quickly to solve weeding problems. ..

Wolfgang and many of the speakers demonstrated their talks with colorful slides.

Water gardening is the newest fad in gardening. Virginia Crum of Lilypons Water Gardens explained the requirements to plan, stock, and maintain a water garden.

Go with as much sunlight as possible. At least six hours or more of direct sunlight a day give more options for blooming. It works best in a level area, away from trees with falling leaves.

Many different materials can be used for the construction,. but fiberglass is the longest lasting. Polyvinyl chloride is the least expensive and more flexible for design.

Chose between tropical (frost tender) or hardy (survive winter) water lilies. All lilies open at 10 a.m., and close at 4 p.m., but if it is desired to have a lily open for evening hours, Viriginia suggested it be cut and put into the refrigerator until the party is ready to begin. Place it back in its position and it should remain open for several hours.

In addition to providing a good location, the balanced stocking is Brent Heath shows some of the daffodils that he grows at the Daffodil Mart, where daffodils bloom for five months.

Bulbs planted in groups create more of a visual impact than those planted sparsely.

Water gardens are easy to construct with the many new materials on the market, easy to maintain, and beautiful to look at.

Daylilies hide the dying foliage of bulbs that should be allow to stand 12 weeks to mature the bulb for the next growing season.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Dairy Youth Weekend

The first-ever dairy youth weekend is being organized to expand the knowledge, experiences, and opportunities for Maryland's future dairy leaders. The event is set for Saturday and Sunday, June 4 and 5, at the Frederick County 4-H Camp and Activities Center near Jefferson.

Registration for the "Udderly Awesome Adventure" is set for 9 a.m. Saturday and the seminar will wrap up at noon Sunday. All youth, ages 8 to 18, that have an interest in the dairy industry are invited to attend.

Dairy leaders will speak on show preparation, show ethics and sportsmanship, reading pedigrees and DHIA papers, careers in agriculture, dairy judging, dairy breed and product promotion, milk and fitness, animal activists, agriculture in the classroom, international opportunities, time management, artificial insemination industry, and embryo transfer.

The program will also include motivational speakers, a barbecue lunch, snack and swimming break, your own videotaped commercial, pizza party, dance, movie and Sunday breakfast.

Cost for the all-inclusive dairy adventure is only $15 per person for registration received by May 21. Late registration cost is $20 per person by June 1.

The program is a project of past 4-H members and current volunteers, Susan G. Summers and Rebecca Long, along with county and state extension personnel.

"We are thankful for the opportunities that we received in the 4-H dairy program and we are eager for the present members to have some of those great experiences," said Long.

"This is a time where we can give back to a program that gave so much to us," said Summers. "We are hopeful that this weekend seminar will open new doors for 4-H'ers."

For more information, contact Summers or Long at (301) 662-1177. Checks should be made payable to the Maryland Brown Swiss Juniors and sent, along with name, address, phone number and age to Rebecca Long, 103A East 8th Street, Frederick, Md. 21701.

Bloomin' Garden

vital to create a heathy, low-maintenance water garden. The following is a formula for success with a typical water garden.

- Cover 50-75 percent of the surface with water lilies.
- Stock 1 submerged plant per 1 or 2 square feet of surface area.
- Stock 1 scavenger per 1 or 2 square feet.
- Stock no more than 1 inch of fish per 5-8 gallons of water.
- Recirculate and filter the total volume of water once evey 2 to 6 hours.

Although a pump is not essential, it is beneficial for clearer water, water falls, conditioning for fish, and proper balance.

Before digging to install a lily pond, take a hose or rope and lay in the shape and spot desired. Step back and think about the impact of the pond in that position. If you don't like it, switch it around before digging.

Dig out. Level it. Insulate with sand. Line, and fill.

Maintenance is minimal. There is no weeding and no daily watering. Fertilize water lilies and lotus once or twice a month during the growing season. Feed the fish once or twice daily what they will consume within 5-10 minutes, if you want to tame them. Rinse the filter and pump regularly.

Flower Color Influences Garden Mood

National Garden Bureau

Everyone likes a bright, colorful garden, but did you know that you can use the colors of flowers and plants to create a mood, shorten or lengthen the look of a garden, or really call attention to a special feature? It's possible because of the way we perceive colors.

Hey Look Me Over!

Red and yellow are two colors that immediately capture our attention. Scientists tell us that we actually see these two colors faster than others! Our eyes are drawn to displays of red or yellow, so they are excellent choices to put around a fountain, or to plant in a key area that you want people to see. Likewise, if you have something in your garden you DON'T want people to look at, plant bright yellow flowers opposite that area to draw attention away from there. Ideally, they will look at the yellow flowers and turn their backs on whatever eyesore it is you want to hide.

If you have some steps leading to your garden or in your garden, consider planting a border of yellow flowers next to them. The yellow will catch people's eyes and alert them in an attractive way that there are steps there and they should be careful.

One color expert has said that a house will even sell faster if it has yellow trim or has borders of yellow flowers out front. This advice isn't guaranteed, but if you are trying to sell your house quickly, this is certainly worth a try. Is your garden area long and narrow and would you like to "square it off" a little with minimal effort? Plant lots of bright red flowers at the far end and this will visually "pull" that end in closer and it won't seem so long and narrow. This can be done with anything you want to "bring closer," because red "advances" visually.

Red also physically arouses us and gets our adrenaline pumping. If you want to excite people, put lots of red around. Experiments have shown that food tastes better around red, so red flowers around your outdoor eating area will stimulate conversation and make the food taste better, too.

Masses of red or yellow are guaranteed attention-getters and will not go unnoticed. In a full-sun garden consider the red blooms of petunias, celosia or wax begonias. Yellow is most often found in marigolds, but for taller plants with golden yellow blooms try sunflowers.

And, by the way, men tend to favor yellow-based reds (like scarlet) while women tend to favor blue-based reds (like burgundy). If you and your spouse don't agree on what "red" to plant, this could be why.

How Sweet It Is

The color pink is perceived as being sweet tasting and fragrant. You may not have noticed it, but people will usually try to smell pink flowers even when they don't have any fragrance. And pink is a soothing, calming color as well. One researcher has said that people are less likely to argue with someone who is wearing a lot of pink, so lots of pink plants around your outdoor patio could contribute to amiable conversation when you entertain.

In sunny locations consider pink blooms from dianthus, geraniums or tall cosmos. In shade, pink wax begonias or impatiens will brighten the area.

Crisp and Clean

If you are the type of person who likes things neat, tidy and precise, white is the color for you. We think of doctors in their white coats and laboratories with white walls and equipment because we associate white with cleanliness, orderliness and precision. Crisp flower beds or border plantings of white will give your garden a well-planned and orderly look. But don't expect the color alone to do all the work — you will still need to tend your garden. Masses of white can be hard on the eyes, so you may want to include areas of other colors as well.

White is also the last color to fade from sight as darkness falls, so it's a good choice for areas you want to look at in the evening, and also a good choice for bordering pathways since you can follow your way easier even as it gets dark.

Garden annuals that deliver good white blooms are nicotianas, vincas and zinnias. These three will perform best in sunny locations.

Green is an excellent complement to white because it actually helps your eyes recover quickly from strain. (Old-time engravers, who had to do very detailed work, often kept a green gemstone nearby so that they could look at it to relieve their eye strain — honest!) Mid-tone to deep greens can impart an air of richness and luxury to a garden, while lighter and yellower greens give a more casual look. You might want to consider this if you are planting up some areas with lots of plants you've chosen more for their foliage than their flowers.

Keeping Your Cool

Have you ever wondered why swimming pools are usually painted "swimming pool blue?" It's because we perceive blue as being cool and calming.

If swimming pools were painted red, we'd think the water was hot.

When our field of vision is filled with blue, our bodies actually slow down and we begin to get calmer. You can use this attribute of blue to create a feeling of coolness even in full-sun garden by planting lots of blue flowers (lighter blues are better than dark blues). Even if it's 95 degrees, you'll feel cooler in the "blue" area of your garden.

And blue tones can help you widen or lengthen the look of a garden because blue recedes, or falls back, from our sight. Lots of blue flowers and blue-toned foliage planted on the long sides of a long and narrow garden will actually seem to make it wider because the blue "falls back" visually.

Blues are the first colors to fade from sight as dusk falls, so you may want to choose a brighter color if there is an area in your garden that you like to look at in the evening.

Cool blue tones are borne on salvia, eustoma (lisianthus), morning glory and ageratum plants.

Creative Gray

There aren't a lot of plants that come in gray, but Dusty Miller (cineraria) and a few other foliage plants do come in silvery grey tones. What's interesting about gray is that it is the only color that doesn't produce an after-image. Usually, if you stare at a color for awhile and then close your eyes or look away, you will "see" its complementary color in your mind's eye. This doesn't happen with gray. Gray is said to promote creativity (you'll often find gray walls in an advertising agency), so if you often go into your garden to think, consider planting a bed of gray to look at.

Let The Good Times Roll

What if you like lots of different colors mixed in among each other? That's great.

Mixes of bright colors give a happy, festive look to an area. Mix different flowers, different colors and different textures to your heart's delight, but just be careful not to overdo it. Too much mixing can look more disorganized than festive, so using three or four colors over and over can help tie the look together.

For a wide range of colors, try mixtures of zinnias, petunias or portulacas. For a more limited but still festive look, a marigold mixture can display the four colors of yellow, orange, gold and maroon.

If you haven't thought about the psychological effects of color before, these tips may give you a starting point for creating not only the look you want in your garden, but also the "feel" you want as well.

Summary

Using color effectively can help you change the look of your garden, create a cool, restful area, and even help you be more creative.

Why Vitamins?

DOYLESTOWN (Montgomery Co.) — Vitamins are only one group of nutrients we need daily. The other five nutrients are: carbohydrates, fats, protein, minerals and water. Carbohydrates, fats and protein give us calories (or energy) for our bodies. Vitamins, minerals and water do not give us calories (energy), but rather help the other three nutrients do their jobs properly.

Vitamins were first discovered in the late 1800s when scientists noticed that animals became ill if certain types of foods were missing from their diets. It has taken science decades to discover how each of the vitamins work and how much is needed every day to stay healthy. It is known that we need only very small amounts every day to stay healthy. A meal plan, which includes a variety of foods will provide the proper amounts of vitamins.

A Quick Lesson on Viamins

Vitamins are grouped according to their abiltiy to dissolve in water or in fats. The fat-soluble vitamins are A, D, E, and K. FAt-soluble vitamins are storedi n the body and need not be replaced daily. The water-soluble are C, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, B-6, B-12, folacin, panthothentic acid, and biotin. Water-soluble vitamins need to be replaced daily because they are not stored in the body. They are also easiliy destroyed by cooking.

Vitamin A is necessary for new cell growth and healthy tissues and is essential for vision in dim light. It also helps provide normal bone development and influences normal tooth formation. Some food sources are carrots, leafy green vegetables, sweet potatoes, pumpkin, winter squash, apricots, and cantaloupe.

Vitamin D aids in the absorption of calcium and phosphorus in bone and tooth formation. To accomplish this, the body — through the liver and the kidneys — converts the vitamin to a hormone-like material. Some food sources are vitamin D fortified dairy products, fortified margarines, liver, egg yolk, salmon, tuna fish, sardines. Vitamin D can also be formed in the skin by limited exposure to sunlight.

Vitamin E in humans acts as an "antioxidant" that helps to pervent oxygen from destroying other substances in the body. In other words, Vitamin E is a preservative of the body's cells. Abundant sources of vegetable oils, beans, eggs, wheat germ, liver, green leafy vegetables, and nuts.

Vitamin K aids in producing the substance which helps clot blood. It is found in spinach, lettuce, kale, cabbage, cauliflower, liver, and egg yolk. It is also made in the intestinal tract by bacteria.

Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) promotes growth and tissue repair including the healing of wounds. It also aids in tooth and bone formation and in the absorption of iron. Abundant sources are citrus fruits, strawberries, tomatoes, turnip greens, green pepper, kale, broccoli and other vegetables.

Thiamin (B-1) is needed for normal digestion, growth, normal functioning of nerve tissue, and the processing of carbohydratews. Thiamin is abundant in pork, legumes, nuts, and enriched, whole-grain breads and cereals.

Riboflavin (B-2) helps the body obtain energy from carbohydrates and proteins. This vitamin is abundant in leafy green vegetables, enriched and whole-grain breads, liver, cheese, lean meats, milk and eggs.

Awards For Cloister FFA

CAROL STARK
Special to Lancaster Farming

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The Cloister Chapter of FFA held its 33rd annual banquet at the Mt. Airy Fire Hall on March 25.

As agriculture has changed so has today's FFA. Serving the career needs of a broad and dynamic industry, today's FFA combines marketing, agri-science and computer technology with the leadership and achievement programs that have always been hallmarks of the organization.

The industry of agriculture has changed so drastically since its beginning, but it has been through that change that agriculture has remained a strong, vital and profitable example of how ancient practices can successfully be combined with modern science and technology.

It is through the FFA and programs like the Young Farmers that this change can successfully continue.

The population of farmers has dropped incredibly. In the 1700s almost 100 percent of the population were farmers. Now farmers make up only two percent of the population but approximately 22 million people are still making their living from one of more than 200 agricultural-related fields.

Before the industrial revolution each farmer raised little more than enough food to feed his family. Today, one farmer alone feeds more than 127 people. It is through FFA programs and education that this has become possible.

Scientists and engineers work hand-in-hand on a wide range of projects. They are currently designing robotic harvesting equipment and laser guided machinery that have the potential to save the farmer countless hours of field time. FFA students learn ways to produce disease resistant hybrid plants and plants that actually repel costly insects. Approximately 32 percent of employment opportunities for FFA students and ag graduates are in the marketing, merchandising, and salesmanship fields.

It is through this education that marketing specialists combine their knowledge of food production, processing, and distribution with their excellent business skills to find the most profitable means of marketing for farmers.

As the United States is responsible for almost one fifth of the world's agricultural trade, the importance of emphasizing premier leadership, personal growth and career success, FFA and agricultural education can not be underrated.

Food is an enormous industry. The United States food system accounts for more than $625 billion, or more than 20 percent of our gross national product each year.

Agricultural education students learn to respect the processes of nature through instruction in plant, animal and environmental sciences. Students gain an appreciation for advances in technology as computers and microscopes become as common as chalkboards in their classrooms.

No one can predict what the future holds, but everyone can do something today to ensure a better tomorrow. FFA continues to do its part to provide agriculture leadership for America.

Perry Holstein Club Holds Meeting

ELLIOTTSBURG (Perry Co.) — Even though we often believe we are over-regulated in America, we still live in a land of tremendous opportunity, where hard work and responsibility pay off.

This was the message delivered to the Perry County Holstein Club annual meeting by Dieter Kreig, editor of a farming weekly newspaper, and native of the former Communist country of East Germany.

A crowd of over 80 Holstein enthusiasts attended the Perry County Club's annual meeting which was held recently at the Messiah Lutheran Church in Elliottsburg.

Saying that he could recall childhood memories of the police arresting his dad in their living room for refusing to turn over the farm to the East German state, Kreig went on to tell of his family's escape to the West, their journey to America, and the settling on a farm in York County in the early 1960s. Kreig said he remembered the brainwashing he received each day at school in East Germany, and how his parents would correct that teaching each evening.

He said that the greatest damage done by the communist states was the removal of private property rights.

"When a man cannot own property and improve his lot by hard work and motivation, a part of his spirit dies," said Kreig.

Since the collapse of the Berlin Wall, Kreig has returned for visits to his homeland each year. He commented on the neglected state of the farm buildings of his home farm when he first saw them in 1990, after leaving the farm as a child under the cover of darkness almost 30 years earlier. Kreig said, "Buildings everywhere are falling down and without needed coats of paint. The people are so poor, they can not afford to fix the buildings up. The only buildings that are receiving needed repair are the churches."

Kreig said he finds this fact ironic, since the renovated churches are a clear sign that the communists failed in one of their primary goals — to obliterate a faith in God among the people. Kreig concluded his speech with a challenge to appreciate the opportunity that America affords, and to watch carefully that our country does not slide towards the socialism and communism that so ruined his native land.

During the business meeting, chaired by club President Ben Dum, Elliottsburg, Dan Rice, Blain and Brian Fleisher, Newport, were reelected as club directors.

Jane Benner, Pa. Holstein director from Millerstown, gave a report. Peggy Raub, Duncannon, presented the 1993 National Champion Dairy Bowl Team with commemorative crocks denoting their accomplishments.

Dave Swartz, Extension agent, presented the 4-H Achievement Awards for success in record book work.

Winning the Junioir Achievement Award was Cole McLaughlin, Elliottsburg, while Joe Haas, Millerstown won the Reserve Junior Achievement Award. Marel Raub, Duncannon, won the Senior Achievement Award, while sisters Trisha Haas and Liza Haas, Millerstown, tied for Reserve Senior Achievement Award.

Marel Raub, 1993-94 Perry County Dairy Princess, gave a talk on the facts of BST use and encouraged the dairy farmers present to learn all they could about the technology so they could be equipped to answer any question that non-farm folks might have about the technology.

From the left, recipients of Perry County Holstein Club's junior achievement award are Trisha Haas, Joe Haas, Liza Haas, Marel Raub, and Cole McLaughlin.

The 1994 Perry County Holstein Board of Directors are Jane Benner, Millerstown; Ben Dum, Elliottsburg; Brian Fleisher, Newport; Allen Kretzing, Loysville; Bob Loy, Loysville; Dave McLaughlin, Elliottsburg; and Dan Rice, Blain.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Ordinarily we would have our garden planted by this time in April. The sugar peas would be in double rows the length of the garden and the onions would be pushing up green sprouts. But as I write this, I can't even see the ground as it is still snow and ice covered.

I've sent for a few things from a seed catalog but mostly I'll use seed that I've saved from last year and the year before that. Just last week I asked my husband to bring me several bunches of peanut plants that were hung high on basement rafters. After roasting them, I had an opportunity to share some with several people and even gave them raw ones to plant in their gardens.

Now when I go to the grocery store, I fill the cart with products that I would not have thought of buying 10 years ago. For one thing I find it is very convenient to have a few cans of soup on the kitchen shelf for a quick meal. And, I never bought salad dressings as we had cole slaw and that only needed sugar and vinegar.

When our six children were all at home, I did not spend as much in one week as I do now for two of us. I realize that things cost a lot more, but in those days we got along by just buying flour at the mill and sugar, salt, bread, and baked beans at 10 cents a can at the store. Then, as now, we had freezers full of beef, pork, fruit, and 20 kinds of vegetables. We had lots of milk and I made custards most every day. A neighbor sold eggs to us at a very reasonable price and we ate very well indeed — maybe that is why our children are all so tall.

One of these days I'll be able to go out and get dirt under my fingernails again and start a new garden.

Invest In Tree Planted At Conservancy

MIDDLEBURG (Snyder Co.) — Nestled away in beautiful Snyder County is a bountiful treasure waiting to be discovered by lovers of nature, food and family. The Middle Creek Conservancy, located in Middleburg, offers opportunities galore for families and individuals to experience the joys and pleasures of farm life without the hassles and hard work. This special farm has been registered in the American Farmland Conservancy Trust. The Conservancy has been designated for the production and care of over 3,500 nut trees.

For a fee of $49.95, the conservancy will plant and maintain a nut tree of y our choice and guarantee that tree and its crop for 15 years. You can select from delicious varieties of specially grafted trees that produce giant, thin-shelled nuts unlike anything you can purchase in a grocery store. You can harvest and enjoy luscious varieties of nuts from the finest grafted stock of American Black Walnut, Persian Walnut, Pecan Chinese Chestnut, Butternut, Hickory, Filbert, or Persimmon trees.

The fee also offers you the privilege of visiting the conservancy to harvest your tree, fish in the ponds, pet animals and pick from many varieties of fruits and vegetables grown right on the 1,000 acre farm.

All the trees are cared for naturally, with no spraying of pesticides. The conservancy plants, prunes, protects and irrigates all trees as necessary. Registry of your tree is maintained at the farm headquarters. Your tree is beautifully labeled and identified. It is numbered, and you receive a certificate identifying your tree and establishing your membership in the conservancy. You own the rights to the tree and its produce for fifteen years. After that time, you can still renew your annual membership.

If you can't come to the farm to harvest your nut tree, the conservancy can take care of that, too. For just an additional small fee for labor and shipping, the conservancy will harvest and ship your nuts to any location you desire.

For directions to Middle Creek Conservancy or to learn about the other options available at the farm, call Karl I. Zimmerman, general manager at (717) 837-3703 or (215) 543-1787. Or write, Middle Creek Conservancy, Middleburg, PA, RD 2, Box 24, 17842.

Look At 1930s Labor Practices

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — In conjunction with the current exhibit, "Who's In Charge? Workers and Managers In the United States," Hershey Community archivist, Pam Cassidy will examine management practices at the Hershey Chocolate plant prior to the 1937 strike in a Hershey Museum program on Sunday, April 17, at 2 p.m. The anecdotal accounts used in her presentation help to illuminate prevailing attitudes and practices of the period. Also included in the program are clips from the 1932 film, "The Gift of Montezuma" showing the Hershey Chocolate plant as it appeared in 1932. Ms. Cassidy will give background information on the film and the reasons why the piece was produced.

The exhibit "Who's in Charge" delves into the relationships of workers and managers in the United States from the 1800's through the present. Case studies such as the cigar making industry and the New England mills, as well as contemporary industries are used as examples of varying industrial management practices and how they affected workers.

The program is free with museum admission. For information, call (717) 534-3439.

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Farm Women Society #18 met at the home of Mrs. Richard Hershey, Overhill Drive on March 19.

Henry Brenner, retired teacher from Lampeter Strasburg School, showed history in slides of Lanc. Co. Homesteads. Small early log barns and houses grew through the years to large farms, German-influenced bank barns and beautiful homesteads. Many of these were occupied by generations of the same families.

Some seats are still available for the bus trip planned to the Hagley Museum on May 17, call Mrs. Henry Nissley 464-4123 for more information.

Nineteen members and six guests enjoyed the meeting with Mrs. Ruth Landis, president presiding.

Berks Society 6

Nine members of the Society of Farm Women of Berks Co. Group #6 met at the home of Mary Youse for their March meeting.

Tim Glick, guest speaker showed a video & spoke on the flood relief work he did in the midwest.

President Janet Schlegel thanked everyone for their donations of dry goods for the Berks Co. Food Bank.

Berks Heim Bingo is April 7 at the main building. The Volunteer Recognition Dinner is April 20 at Berks Heim, two members will attend. Berks Heim festival is Sept. 11.

The next meeting will be held at the Pleasantville Diner at 7:30 for "Everyone's Birthday Party". Each person is asked to bring a $5 gift to exchange.

Last of the Susquehannock Indians

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Archaeologist and author Dr. Barry C. Kent talks about the end of a way of life in an illustrated lecture "Last of the Susquehannocks" which will be held at the Hershey Museum on Monday, April 18, at 1 p.m. The program is part of the Museum Monday series intended to provide information about aspects of the museum's permanent collections which includes artifacts of Susquehannock life.

Kent writes that "History reminds us that the end of the Susquehannock way of life can be marked on December 27, 1763." His program recounts the archaeological and historical evidence for the changing and troubled way of life of the Susquehannock Indians of central Pennsylvania during the 300 years leading to the events of 1763.

This program is supported by a grant from the Pennsylvania Humanities council, a statewide funding organization funded, in part, by the National Endowment for the Humanities. The program is free with museum admission. For information, please call (717) 534-3439.

Landis Valley Museum Needs Volunteers

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Join the neighborly community of Landis Valley Museum and take advantage of possibilities to learn, meet people, contribute, and enjoy yourself! Volunteers are critical to the success of the museum and make it possible to educate the public about Pennsylvania German rural life through diverse programs and services.

Interpretive guides are currently needed for the May 1 - October 31 season. Training sessions will be held on Wednesday, April 6; also on Wednesday and Thursday, April 13 and 14.

Landis Valley in Lancaster is the largest Pennsylvania German museum and is rated "exceptional" by AAA. Its many historical buildings, ranging from farmsteads and a tavern to craft shops and a firehouse, gardens, groves and orchards provide a wonderful environment in which to volunteer.

It is a state-owned museum operated by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and supported by the Landis Valley Associates, located 2.5 miles north of Lancaster on Route 272/Oregon Pike. Call Margaret Arnold, volunteer coordinator, at (717) 569-0401 for more information.

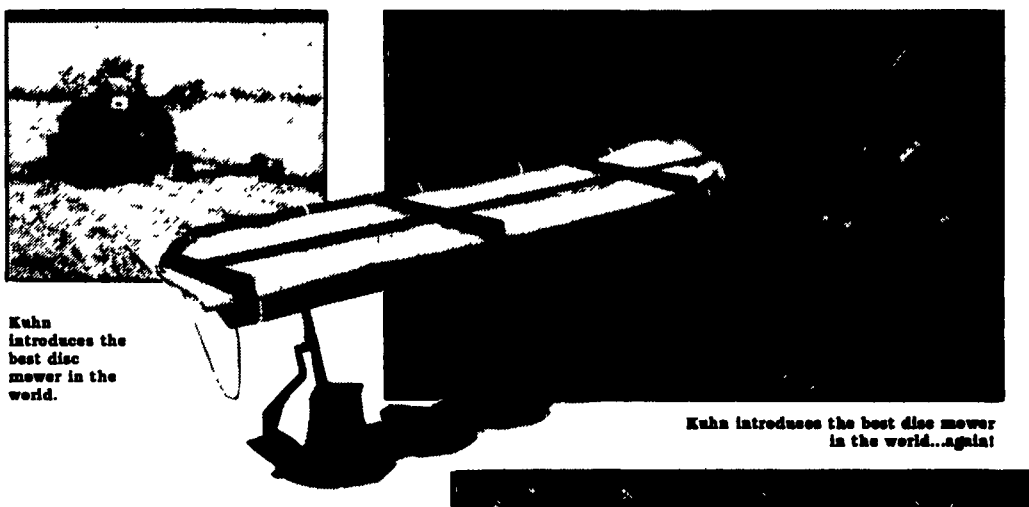
NEW For 1994!

History Repeats Itself

1968 TODAY



Kuhn introduces the best disc mower in the world.

Kuhn introduces the best disc mower in the world...again!

"It's easy to improve on perfection when you start with the best."

In 1968, when Kuhn introduced its first disc mower, the GMD 4, it started a revolution in the way grass was cut. It also started Kuhn on the road to over 25 years of unprecedented leadership in haymaking equipment.

Now history repeats itself with the introduction of the all new line of GMD "100 Series" Disc Mowers. Available in working widths of 6'7", 7'10" and 9'2". There's a Kuhn GMD Disc Mower that will fit your operation.

The heart of the new GMD "100 Series" is the newly designed cutter bar which makes for better overall performance, a more uniform cut and easier maintenance.

It's easy to improve on perfection when you start with the best, and that's just what Kuhn has done with the new GMD "100 Series" lineup. See your Kuhn dealer and order yours today. But don't delay, there's a limited supply of new GMD "100 Series" Disc Mowers and they'll sell fast.

Kuhn's Gyrotedder — not only does it save on drying time, it might just save your crop. Wet weather is less of a threat with Kuhn's Gyrotedder since its fluffing action speeds up hay's natural drying time.

The Gyrotedder's articulated frame offers maximum maneuverability. Wheel heights adjust without the use of tools, adapting rotor angle to crop density. And 3-point folding models are equipped with a Digidrive® multiple finger coupling that helps prevent machine damange.

Check out Kuhn's Gyrotedder today! Eight models available in 10' to 28' widths.

Conservation Districts Visit Capitol

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — County conservation districts made their annual trek to the state capitol recently to better educate their legislators about the accomplishments and funding needs of conservation districts in natural resource protection.

Dozens of representatives from many of the 66 county conservation districts spent the day visiting their local legislators to discuss issues of concern.

During their visits, district representatives stressed that stagnant state funding for conservation district programs impacts the districts' abilities to properly administer some of the state's programs delegated from the Department of Environmental Resources (DER).

Annual state funding has remained at $1.5 million since fiscal year 1988-89, while needs for technical assistance have increased at the local level. In order for districts to "catch up" with current needs in manpower and accounting for inflation rates of the last several years, the districts are requesting an appropriation of $2.59 million for district "core" programs.

For 1993-1994, Governor Casey is proposing a $1.75 million funding level. With an average of 4.5 persons per office in 66 districts, this $250,000 increase would amount to only $3,787 total increase per office over the last seven years.

The districts also recommended that Senate Bill 351 be brought forth as a major legislative initiative for 1994. The bill proposes to establish within the DER a comprehensive program of water management.

Beef Promotion Committee Approves Funding

DALLAS, Texas — The Beef Promotion Operating Committee has approved an authorization request to fund the oversight committee, which will develop a process for implementation of the Industry Wide Long Range Plan.

At its meeting in Dallas, Texas, the operating committee approved $285,000 as its share of the oversight committee's costs for fiscal year 1994. The funds will be used for implementation of the long-range plan.

Additional funds for the oversight committee are expected to come from the Beef Industry Council, Cattlemen's Beef Board, National Cattlemen's Association, and U.S. Meat Export Federation.

The Industry-Wide Long Range Plan, which was released last December, calls for the implementation of eight "leverage points" — designed to recapture beef's market share — and for unification of the four national beef organizations: Beef Industry Council, Cattlemen's Beef Board, National Cattlemen's Association, and U.S. Meat Export Federation.

The beef industry's Long-Range Planning Task Force recommended the formation of an oversight committee to develop an implementation schedule and an organizational structure for the four organizations to consider. The oversight committee will recommend the allocation of resources, both financial and human, to be made by all industry organizations to achieve the leverage points. It will also oversee the transition teams and process that will implement the long-range plan. The committee includes three elected officers of each organization; four members elected by the long-range plan task force, and the executive officers of the four existing organizations.

Three of the four organizations — the Cattlemen's Beef Board, National Cattlemen's Association, and the U.S. Meat Export Federation — have approved the concept of the long-range plan.

"The implementation of the long range plan is an historic event for the beef industry," said Beef Board Chairman Jim Webb. "The industry has the opportunity to focus its resources and organizations on the challenge of recapturing beef's market share. This opportunity may not occur again for a long time."

In other action, the operating committee approved projects in the following program areas: research, $480,000; industry information, $610,000; consumer information, $313,000; and foreign marketing, $1,078,000.

The Beef Board is accountable for overseeing the national, one-dollar-per-head beef checkoff program, including approving budgets, collecting checkoff assessments, assuring compliance with the Beef Promotion and Research Act, and certifying state beef councils.

Md. Dept. Of Ag Dedicated

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Governor William Donald Schaefer and Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker officially dedicated the Maryland Department of Agriculture's (MDA) headquarters building in honor of former Secretary Wayne A. Cawley, Jr. at ceremonies at the department's Open House recently.

The highlight of the festivities was the unveiling of the sign naming the building for Cawley. He served as Maryland's Secretary of Agriculture from 1979 to 1991.

"Wayne did a wonderful job as agriculture secretary. No man deserves this honor more for the contribution he made to keeping agriculture strong in Maryland," said Governor Schaefer.

"It is extremely appropriate that we dedicate our headquarters complex in honor of Wayne.

Purina Mills Introduces Dairy Feeds

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Purina Mills, Inc. has introduced three new feeds fbr dairy cattle, covering the entire range of herd needs. All three products are available from Purina dealers throughout the U.S.

Purina Cornerstone™ heifer feed is nutritionally balanced to help heifers achieve the desired height, weight, and body condition for calving. Cornerstone is available as a complete 13-percent, 18-percent, or 22-percent protein ration in checker form, and as an 18-percent or 36-percent protein concentrate ration designed to be fed with grain. Cornerstone complete rations are also available in three TDN levels to match the needs of forage programs.

"Cornerstone is designed to balance a variety of forage types and qualities, while optimizing heifer growth in preparation for breeding and calving," said Purina Mills nutritionist Dr. Barbara Barton. "A properly sized heifer at calving — that means the right height, weight and body condition—can produce up to 1,000 pounds more milk during its first lactation."

Cornerstone features medication and additive options specifically for heifers.

Purina Mills, Inc. has introduced three new feeds for dairy cattle, covering the entire range of herd needs. All three products are available from Purina dealers throughout the U.S.

Purina Prepare™ dry cow feed also comes in complete and concentrate forms. Prepare offers optional formulations for different TDN, protein, calcium, and phosphorous levels. Prepare feeding programs are designed to balance the increased nutritional demands of late pregnancy and to help the transition to a lactating ration following calving.

"Most problems in early lactation have their origins in the cow's dry period," said Barton. "A dry cow properly fed and cared for prior to calving can produce an extra 1,000-2,000 of milk pounds during her next lactation. And a cow that begins lactation in ideal condition is far less likely to have metabolic disorders or other problems."

Purina SUPER-EXT™ complete high-performance, high-energy milking ration with optional formulations for TDN, protein, calcium, and phosphorous fortifications designed to balance any forage program.

The highly palatable blend of nuggets and pellets is designed to help maintain a cow's weight and body condition after calving and enhance milk production. In field trials, cows fed SUPER-EXT produced an average of 6.7 pounds more milk per day, while maintaining or improving milk composition.

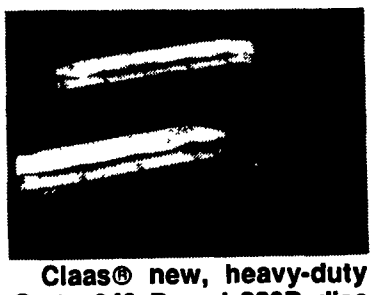
Disc Mowers Minimize Crop Damage

COLUMBUS, Ind. — The new, heavy-duty Claas® Corto 240 D and 280 D disc mowers cut along the full width of the mower and harvest quickly, cleanly.

An adjustable hitch ensures that the entire working width can be used even when the tractor is equipped with wide tires. Corto 240 D has a 7 foot 10 inch working width. The 280 D has a 9 foot 2 inch working width.

Designed to protect crop quality, the mowers gently, but thoroughly, harvest crop, minimizing damage and produce wide, fluffy swaths to optimize drying. They feature disc gears that are mounted on large dimensional ball bearings, scaled gearbox housing, and ground pressure relief springs. The mowers fold back if an obstacle is hit and fold hydraulically from the tractor seat for transport.



Claas® new, heavy-duty Corto 240 D and 280D disc mowers cut along the full width of the mower and harvest quickly, cleanly.

Herbicide Registration Includes Environmental Provisions

WILMINGTON, Del. — The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) gave farmers and agribusiness a possible glimpse into the future last week when it approved registration of acetochlor herbicide for use on corn.

The registration included a set of environmental agreements and conditions unique in the agricultural chemical industry.

The agreements are designed to protect groundwater and surface water. They include required reductions in overall use of other corn herbicides, monthly sampling of wells and surface water supplies in seven states, early detection measures to prevent groundwater contamination, and potential remedial actions ranging from label revisions to cancellation of the registration.

Zeneca Ag Products, which will market acetochlor as the active ingredient in Surpass EC herbicide, said it supported EPA's position on the registration.

"EPA, Zeneca, and our customers have a common interest: clean wells, lakes and rivers," said Cindy Faulkner, regulatory product manager for Zeneca.

"This product had to meet a much higher standard of environmental protection than older herbicides in the same class," she said. "The water monitoring programs and additional scientific studies require a substantial investment of time, personnel, and resources on our part. But we understand EPA's desire to handle the environmental issues in this manner."

Faulkner said that based on its technical profile and on extensive testing done to date, acetochlor does not present a high risk to water supplies — or it would not have been registered.

"It's certainly no higher risk than is posed by competing products that aren't subject to many of these restrictions," she said. "It's clear that EPA decided it was time to raise the standard. The important thing is that in working with EPA, we were able to develop conditions and procedures that are workable and allow corn growers to use this product effectively."

Harness Plus Herbicide Approved For Corn Market

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Harness Plus herbicide for control of grasses and certain broadleaf weeds in corn has been approved for use by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Monsanto Co., manufacturer of the new herbicide, has announced.

"Harness Plus will offer U.S. corn farmers agronomic benefits not available in currently used corn herbicides," said Arnold Donald, group vice President and general manager of the Americas Division of Monsanto's Agricultural Group.

Compared with the leading currently used products, Harness Plus provides superior weed control at lower use rates, offers more flexibility in application timing, provides better control of broadleaf weeds, and offers better performance in drier conditions, Donald said.

Farmers who used Harness Plus in comparison trials in 1993 confirmed its superior performance on tough grass species such as woolly cupgrass and on small-seeded broadleaf weeds such as pigweed and lambsquarters. Ninety-one percent of growers rated Harness Plus equal or superior to their current overall grass control program.

WARNING!

DON'T THROW AWAY UP TO 45% OF YOUR HAY.

Losses occur when crops are stored--regardless of the storage method. Those losses are real--colorless, odorless and invisible--you can't see them, but they're there.

The air trapped within stored feed begins the fermentation process--and fermentation continues until all the air is consumed. The less air within the stored feed, the less loss.

Because bunker silos are not easily packed, losses in bunker silos range from 27% to 45%. If the feed is valued at $30 per ton, every 1000 tons stored in a bunker would suffer losses from $8,100 to $13,500. Tower silo losses range from 3% to 8%, or $900 to $2400 for every 1000 tons.

Those losses occur for every 1000 tons--every time feed is stored, year after year. Before investing in any storage method, consider the total costs--including fermentation loss.

Compare the various methods of feed storage. Contact the Crop Storage Institute for your free copy of "Methods of Crop Storage" and "Know the Facts."

CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF CONCRETE

This has been quite the winter, hasn't it? I think most of us are really looking forward to spring. In the meantime, we have to get through this ice, snow, and soon MUD! There's a lot of ground not frozen because of the snow cover, and if you must go over that ground to get to your stored feed, that will cause quite a struggle.

And, if the long range forecasters are right, another 6 years of severe winter weather means you will want to be better prepared to store and handle your valuable feeds.

"On most dairy farms, QUALITY FORAGE is the single most important factor affecting profit."

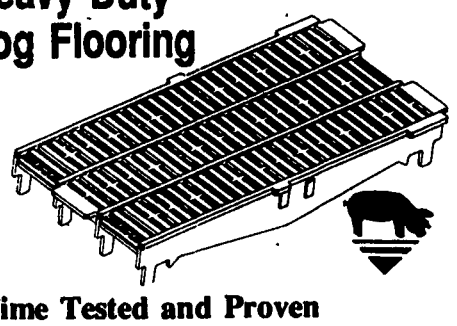
☑ CHECK OUT Polygrate™
Heavy Duty Hog Flooring



Time Tested and Proven
This style of POLYGRATE was first introduced in 1981. Over the years Faroex has continued to refine this product. POLYGRATE is one of only a few "World Class" floors that has stood this test of time.

Outstanding Traction
POLYGRATE'S unique "high-low" finger design provides outstanding traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort.
- ♦ POLYGRATE'S rounded corners minimize injuries. The edges are beveled providing a smoother, safer surface that promotes comfort, too.

What Does This All Add Up To?
- ♦ More piglets survive until weaning
- ♦ Less splay/spraddle leg problems
- ♦ Heavier piglets at weaning
- ♦ Better conditioned sows at weaning

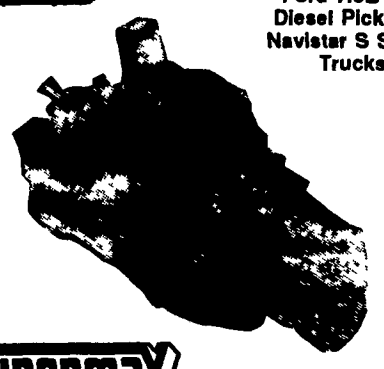
TURBOCHARGER SYSTEM

Ford 7.3L/6.9L Diesel Pickup & Navistar S Series Trucks



Hypermax ENGINEERING, INC.

The HYPERMAX PULSE TURBOCHARGER SYSTEM utilizes the high pressure exhaust pulses to achieve faster "off idle" engine acceleration and vastly improves throttle response. This response feature is accomplished without the use of a wastegate, which detracts from performance anywhere but at low engine speeds, due to its inherent high exhaust back pressure.

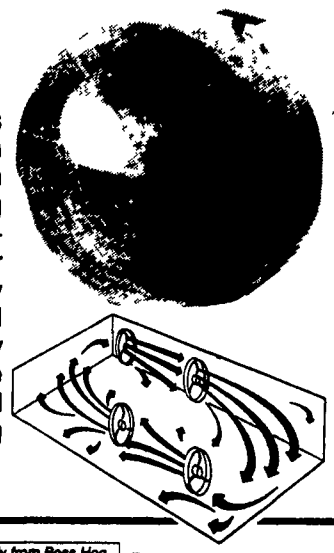
Schaefer Barn Kooler®



The Barn Kooler® System incorporates a series of fans and controls into an integrated system that is used for both high velocity air cirulation for cooling during the Summer and gentle, draft-free air movement during the Winter months. By utilizing thermostically controlled speed modulators, the speed of the circulating air is constantly adjusted to the temperature. As the temperatures in the building rise and fall, so does the volume of air being circulated.

Hatfield To Install Technology To Check Hogs

HATFIELD (Montgomery Co.) — Hatfield Quality Meats, Inc. has entered into an agreement with SFK Technology A/S of Denmark to install SFK's Autofom hog carcass grading system at the Hatfield plant in Hatfield.

The Autofom utilizes ultrasound technology to produce cross-sectional images the length of the carcass. The unit has 16 transducers positioned in a stationary U-shaped bar. Carcasses are pulled across the Autofom transducer immediately after gambrelling.

Measurements are taken every ½ inch, providing a three-dimensional image of the back side of the carcass. The images produce a clear picture of the entire backfat layer as well as muscling within the carcass.

The Autofom, having no moving parts, is fully automated and does not require an operator. A high degree of accuracy is expected with the use of this system, comparable to the KC Classification system in use throughout Denmark.

The accuracy will be even greater than that offered by the optical probes used in many plants throughout the U.S.

The project will involve extensive cut testing and development of software models. Penn State University will be participating in much of the data collection and will be directly involved in the application of the technology to modify Hatfield's carcass merit payment program. Hatfield hopes to have the equipment installed and operating by early 1995.

Farm Programs Offer Advance Payments

LIONVILLE (Chester Co.) — Producers may request an advance portion of the projected deficiency payment for wheat and feed grains they enroll in the 1994 programs for these crops, according to Hollis D. Baker, director of the Chester/Delaware County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"The programs offer 50 percent of the estimated total deficiency payment rates for these crops in cash," Baker said.

Estimated deficiency payment rates for the 1994 crops are $.85 per bushel for wheat, $.40 for corn, $.46 for sorghum, and $.52 for barley.

Baker said acreage devoted to conserving uses for deficiency payments under the optional 0-85/92 provisions of the wheat and feed grains program will not be less than these rates.

The advance payment rates are $.425 per bushel for wheat, $.20 for corn, $.23 for grain sorghum, and $.26 for barley.

The ASCS official said producers who accept advance payments and later fail to comply with the 1994 program provisions must refund the amount of the advance payment with interest, plus liquidated damages.

Program applications may be filed through April 29.

STRATEGIC PLANNING FOR POULTRY PRODUCERS

Dennis E. Buffington
Professor and Head
Dept. of Agricultural and Biological Engineering

Strategic planning is about as popular as cleaning your workshop. You know it needs to be done, but all of us will put it off as long as possible until we are forced to do it. However, strategic planning is absolutely essential for poultry producers today in this highly competitive global environment.

In the 1950s and 1960s, poultry producers were successful if they were willing to work hard and to provide proper care and handling for the birds. In other words, producers were largely in charge of their own destinies.

Today, however, there are many external forces dictating whether a poultry producer will be successful. Even some hard working, dedicated poultry producers are unable to stay in the business.

Strategic planning is a process of identifying your current situation, benchmarking with leading poultry producers, and evaluating where you want to be five years from now. The strategic planning process identifies target points to achieve. Since you cannot always know what the external forces will be, it is often feasible to have several alternative target points depending on which particular external forces prevail.

To assess your current situation, it is important to first evaluate your true costs. Whether you are producing eggs or meat, undoubtedly your feed costs are the biggest expense. When you figure feed costs, don't just include what you spend out-of-pocket, but also include the value of any home-grown feeds. Other expense factors that need to be itemized in order to assess your current situation include hired labor, repairs and maintenance, utilities, interest on borrowed money, interest potential on invested money, depreciation of structures and equipment, insurance, taxes, etc. Express each of these expenses in terms of cents per dozen eggs or cents per pound of meat.

Before developing or identifying the targets where you want to be five years from now, perform some "benchmarking" with a number of other poultry producers.

Find out what their costs are for each of the above categories to produce a dozen of eggs or a pound of meat. Identify why some of the poultry producers have expenses that represent a lower percentage of income than yours. Find out what they are doing differently than you are. Evaluate how much you would need to invest in order to reap the benefits that they are realizing by reducing expenses. Remember, maximizing your egg production is not the same as maximizing your net return or profit. As you ponder various alternatives to reduce expenses as a percent of income, don't be afraid to let your mind wander and consider some alternatives that are not considered traditional.

For example, in some situations it may be cheaper to contract all repairs and maintenance to an outside contractor rather than attempting to do some yourself. On the other hand, you may want to do your repairs and maintenance as much as possible, but discontinue growing any crops on your farm. You may find it is more profitable for you to rent your land to a neighbor or have the fieldwork done by a custom operator.

On the other hand, you may want to continue to do the field work and hire a flock manager for your expanding poultry enterprise. After you have developed a detailed analysis of your current situation, benchmarked with successful poultry producers, considered various alternatives, then it is time to put it all together and identify your five-year, 10-year, and 20-year plans.

Just because you identify these long-range plans, always maintain flexibility so that these plans can be shifted as dictated by changing external factors. When you have a strategic plan in place, you can refer to it the same way you refer to a road map. When you want to go from point A to point B, you can easily identify the most direct highway. However, it may be necessary to take an alternate route because the preferred route is no longer a good road.

The strategic plan will be most valuable to you if it is updated on an annual or biannual basis. The most difficult part of the strategic plan is developing it initially. The updates become rather rewarding, especially if you can chart the progress you have made since the last plan that was developed.

So start your strategic planning activities now. You can clean the workshop later.

Directors Set Program Direction

CHICAGO, Ill. — Directors of the Beef Industry Council met recently to consider and approve program plans and budgets for fiscal year 1995.

The preliminary plan and budget recommended by committees responsible for promotion, consumer information and research, included:

- A promotion budget of $33.8 million to continue the "Beef. It's What's For Dinner℠" advertising campaign, supported by recipe distribution and partnerships at retail and foodservice.
- A consumer information budget of $7.1 million to continue key elements of the education program which provide materials for children and teenagers as future and current purchase influencers; reinforce the easy versatility message through recipes and provide accurate and timely information on selection, handling, and preparation in the food communicator program; reach healthcare professionals with positive messages about beef and remove obstacles consumers have encountered when working with the health community; and focus on improving consumer perceptions of beef on diet/health and safety issues through media public relations efforts.
- A budget of $7.3 million for research to build on existing knowledge, including in-depth market research of beef's target audience, work in the product technology area in improving the safety of beef, roll-out of the Nutri-Facts program and other nutrition research knowledge that helps position beef as part of a healthful diet, and meat science research that helps provide consumers with value-added products.

Council Supports Industry-Wide Long-Range Plan

CHICAGO, Ill. — Directors of the Beef Industry Council (BIC) of the Meat Board meeting here voted to "fund and participate in further development of the industry-wide long-range plan."

Three other organizations, the Beef Board, National Cattlemen's Association, and the U.S. Meat Export Federation, had earlier agreed to proceed with the long-range plan.

The action came during the BIC Planning Conference, held to consider and approve program plans and budgets proposed for fiscal year 1995 in the areas of consumer information, promotion, and research. A preliminary FY95 BIC budget of $51.9 million was approved, which includes $7.1 million for consumer information, $7.3 million for research, and $33.8 million for promotion. Final plans and a budget for 1995 will be approved during the BIC annual meeting here August 11-13.

According to BIC Chairman Ralph "Buck" Bell, Jr., the producers and industry representatives who make up the BIC board are anxious to move the process along. "They told us to move ahead with the implementation of the long-range plan. They want to make sure that the changes we make will benefit the entire industry."

The plan, first presented last December by the Beef Industry Long Range Plan Task Force, includes eight leverage points with outcomes designed to make the industry more responsive to consumers and thus improve market share. It also suggests the leverage points can be better achieved through a more unified industry structure.

"Several of our directors and many state beef councils have questioned the advisability or need to merge the four organizations to accomplish the outcomes envisioned in the long range plan," said Bell, a South Carolina beef producer. "But I think we can make structure changes that will unify our efforts, coordinate our programs and streamline the approval process to reduce costs in managing our limited resources."

Bell, BIC Chairman-Elect L.R. "Ron" Curtis, BIC Treasurer Max Deets, and Meat Board President John Huston will represent the BIC on the 20-member Oversight Committee, which was created to implement long-range plan leverage points and a unified industry structure to most efficiently and effectively implement the leverage points. A structure proposal is to be complete and ready for the four organizations to vote on by late-January 1995. If the plan is approved, the new structure could be implemented as early as July 1995.

"The most important thing for the industry," according to Curtis, a Hastings, Iowa, cattle feeder, "is to immediately ask all organizations to align their programs with the leverage points outlined in the Beef Industry Long-Range Plan. We think BIC programs are already consumer-driven and we've been doing a pretty good job of bringing consumers back to beef. But we can do even better when all resources are focused on consumer benefits."

During open discussion of the plan, directors called on BIC officers to work through the Oversight Committee to:

- Assure everyone in the beef business — whether dairyman, veal producer, packer/processor or cattleman — is represented in any new structure.
- Assure continued access to the multi-species strategic alliances.
- Work to eliminate unnecessary bureaucracy.
- Be open during the development process "so everyone knows what is being proposed and how it will affect them."
- Call for a single meeting during which a final recommendation can be presented to and debated by directors from all organizations and then vote in secret ballot.

Bell asked BIC directors to communicate with officers frequently. "When you have questions, concerns, comments or suggestions, please let us know: Call us, fax us or leave word at the BIC office — we'll get back to you."

Deputy Secretary To Serve Md.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Governor William Donald Schaefer announced that Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker will be leaving his post to take a diplomatic overseas assignment with the U.S. Department of Agriculture as the U.S. agricultural policy adviser in Ukraine.

The appointment will last at least a year. Lewis R. Riley, deputy secretary, will serve as acting secretary until a successor is named.

"I am very sad to lose someone with the drive and enthusiasm that Secretary Walker has displayed, but I know he will do an outstanding job in Ukraine. He is an expert in the agricultural affairs of the former Soviet Union and he has helped us in Maryland to forge agricultural alliances and exchange programs with the emerging nations in that part of the world. I wish him nothing but the best, and thank him for a job well done," Governor Schaefer said.

Walker became Maryland's Secretary of Agriculture in 1991 succeeding Wayne A. Cawley, Jr. He has been at the Maryland Department of Agriculture since 1985, both as executive assistant to the secretary and deputy secretary.

State Grange Members Visit Washington

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The largest delegation ever of Pennsylvania State Grangers visited their federal legislators during the annual Washington Legislative Tour.

Among the issues to be discussed during the recent visit with U.S. Congressmen and Senators were the reorganization of the United States Department of Agriculture, rural health care, amendments to the Clean Water Act, expansion of coverage by the Occupational Safety and Health Organization (OSHA), and revision of federal crop insurance programs.

Brenda Shambaugh, Pennsylvania State Grange legislative director, said the Washington tour presented an opportunity for the Grange to voice its position on issues that have been developed through the Grange's grass-roots policies. A summary of the issues and Grange policy follows:

The reorganization of the USDA came one step closer to fruition with the approval of a substitute plan by the Subcommittee on Department Operations and Nutrition.

The core of the plan would reduce the present number of presidentially-appointed, sub-Cabinet officers from 10 to seven and give Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy some discretion to merge separate agencies and offices from 43 to 30. It also requires the reduction in size of the USDA's staff by 7,500 over five years with a larger reduction coming in the Washington office rather than the field locations. However, Espy would be authorized to reduce the number of field offices through elimination or consolidation.

The Grange advocates moving food welfare programs, rural housing and other non-farm public service programs administered by USDA under one agency such as the Department of Public Welfare. The Grange supports co-located service centers under a 30-30-30 formula where a minimum of 30 farmers would not have to travel more than 30 miles or need more than 30 minutes' tiome to get to a service center. The Grange also backs converting the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) to the National Resource Conservation Service, but feels the function of SCS should continue to be technical with priority given to farmers.

The Grange's interest in health care reform dates back decades. At the National level, the Grange has sponsored a multiyear, political, educational, and action program called "Health Care in America."

The Pennsylvania State Grange supports freedom of choice for medical providers and facilities; uniform fee schedules, benefits, and eligibility requirements, including coverage for in-home care; health care that maintains existing preferred or association group health care plans; and contributions based on ability to pay.

The Grange opposes employer mandates and government intervention except to revise current laws and regulations.

Congress is expected to rewrite the Clean Water Act of 1972 as emphasis shifts from point sources of pollution to non-point sources (NPS) such as streets, construction sites, mines, logging areas, and farms.

The Grange has joined a broad coalition of agriculutural and agribusiness organizations to form the Clean Water Working Group and is working with members of Congress and their staffs, administration officals, and other interested parties to express agriculture's concerns in adopting practical and workable solutions to NPS problems.

The Grange urges Congress to maintain full funding of up to $400 million, to be spent with a state's matching funds, on programs to provide educational and technical assistance to address NPS problems. Full funding, the Grange believes must be a priority in any Clean Water Act reauthorization.

Pollution control programs must be based on voluntary, locally-designed programs that meet the voluntary cooperation of farmers and landowners to use best management practices. The program should be administered by a single federal agency and must protect the rights of farmers and landowners.

Strongly backed by the Clinton Administration, bills to expand the coverage of OSHA are moving through Congress. Two bills would place substantial new safety and health burdens on employers. Both bills include the creation of safety and health committees for employers with 11 or more employees and written safety and health programs to identify and correct work place hazards, including training and education for all employers.

The Grange strongly opposes the provisions that require the committees on safety and health when only a few employees are involved. A farmer hiring extra hands at harvest time would have an administrative nightmare, especially if three or four of the hands were family members. The Grange also opposes unrealistic OSHA work place safety and health regulations.

Included in the trek to the nation's capital will be a visit with Espy, a congressional breakfast with legislators, and a meeting with Pennsylvania's senators and House and Senate Ag Committee staff members.

Md. Provides Tick ID Service

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced that the Mosquito Control Section of the department will continue to provide free tick identification services at its headquarters laboratory in Annapolis, as well as at the regional laboratories in Riverdale, Salisbury, and Leonardtown.

"Our goal is to help health care professionals and the general public to identify ticks that may be carrying Lyme disease or Rocky Mountain spotted fever," Walker said.

According to Cyrus R. Lesser, chief of the Mosquito Control Section, 329 ticks were identified during 1993. The most common species found was the lone star tick, characterized by a white dot on its back.

This tick is a pest species, but is not known to transmit disease. The American dog tick, which comprised 25-percent of the collection, is a vector of Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Lyme disease is transmitted by the black-legged tick in Maryland and this species comprised 10-percent of the 1993 collection.

Based on the number of ticks submitted for identification, the Coastal Plain of Maryland appears to have the highest population of ticks. This includes all of the Eastern Shore region, southern Maryland, and those counties bordering the Chesapeake Bay. Only one tick specimen was submitted from the mountainous Western Maryland region.

In 1994, the Maryland Department of Agriculture again will offer free tick identification and information services for Maryland residents. Information on ticks and Lyme disease, including color pamphlets, fact sheets and bookmarks, is available on request at no charge. Community service organizations will be loaned VCR tapes upon request.

Ticks to be identified should be placed in a zip-lock plastic bag along with the name, address and telephone number of the donor, date and location where collected and type of host, whether it be human, pet, livestock, equine, etc. The container should be delivered or mailed to the nearest laboratory. Results of the identification will be available within two working days.

"Our staff will also be available to answer questions about tick life cycles and offer advice on how to avoid tick bites. However, we cannot determine if a tick carries a disease-causing agent," Lesser said.

For details on the Maryland Department of Agriculture's tick identification and information program, contact a regional Mosquito Control Office: Annapolis (410) 841-5870; Leonardtown (301) 475-9123; Riverdale (301) 927-8357; or Salisbury (410) 543-6626.

HANDLES ANYTHING THAT CROPS UP.

Kubota M-Series farm tractors are built for any kind of work that crops up. And with 4-wheel drive, they easily pull implements you'd expect to find behind a much larger tractor.

These Kubota tractors are built with strong, liquid-cooled diesel engines. With 44-85 PTO horsepower. Optional shuttle-shift transmissions. A turbo-charged model offers increased pulling power. A narrow new version works harder in close quarters.

Although a Kubota is built to take on work, it doesn't come with the big fuel bill or other operating expenses of many larger tractors.

Before you plow, cultivate, spray, load, mow, or bale, take one look at the Kubota M-Series. It handles any work that crops up.

Rhino disc mowers feature an easy access cutterbar The innovative design of the cutterbar allows access to the disc spindle shaft and gear module without disassembly of the entire cutterbar, reducing maintenance costs and downtime The hardened rock guards are designed to help protect the entire leading edge of the cutterbar from damage and, along with the skid shoes, are easily replaceable A heavy-duty CAT I-II & Cat II offset three-point hitch made of 4"x6" thick-wall tubing, is standard to provide dependable service A safety breakaway system is built in to provide mainframe protection against sudden impacts when mowing With 5" of blade overlap and blade tip speed of 15,814 FPM Rhino disc mowers provide a clean, smooth cut. Rugged construction and high performance are two reasons Rhino disc mowers are the ideal choice for fast, efficent grass mowing

RDM DISC MOWERS

The new Rhino RDM Series Disc Mower is designed for faster, efficient mowing of grass pastures and hay meadows and offers features not found on many competitive units.

There's nothing more important to a crop than early, even emergence. To get it, you need accurate, even seeding.

The 5300 has earned a reputation for its seeding precision, a function of its exclusive feed cup design and dependable disk openers. And, to improve placement of seed, the opener drawbars are heavier than on previous models. Press wheel and opener bearings are heavier for long life operation.

Along with accuracy, the 5300 gives you fast, high capacity seeding, so you spend less time refilling hoppers. Grass seeding attachment for 16x7.

Rediscover The Rotary Hoe!

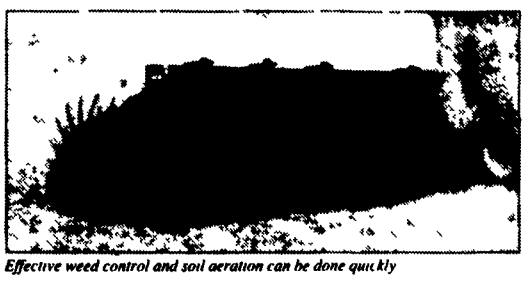
Farmers rediscover new uses for an old tool

Land hoe!

Farmers across the country are taking a new look at an old tool, the rotary hoe Using a rotary hoe is not only a great defense against weeds, it can also help meet compliance by bringing residue back to the soil surface.

Some innovative farmers have already proven the value of the high-speed rotary hoe in aerating their reduced tillage fields before planting. Used ahead of planting, the rotary hoe breaks the seal or crust that may have formed in the soil. This enables the soil to dry and warm up faster to give you a day or two jump in planting. It also creates a mellow, uniform seedbed for better emergence

Yetter has designed new models to work specifically in heavy crop residue These new models operate in row crops or bedded plants with equal ease and without implement modifications



Effective weed control and soil aeration can be done quickly

In many areas, growers are finding rotary hoes can help reduce wind erosion, while others are using rotary hoes to incorporate broadcasted wheat and other small grains. Taking existing technology and expanding its usefulness is what makes innovators successful

The usefulness of rotary hoes is not limited to farm fields. You might be surprised, but Yetter Rotary Hoes are being used by ski resorts to break up the crusted snow on downhill ski runs

However, even with all these new ideas, don't overlook why the rotary hoe was originally built Each pass of a rotary hoe can go a long way in reducing herbicide applications by incorporating the herbicide into the weed root zone to enhance its effectiveness In fact, many preplant herbicide labels call for rotary hoeing if the weather is dry five to 14 days after application Check your herbicide labels for details

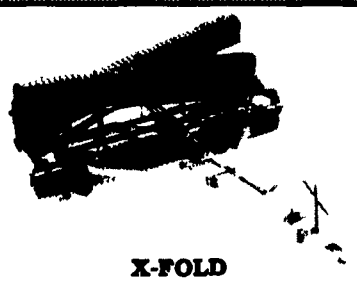
ABC GROFF — Brillion



X-FOLD

The Brillion X-Fold Series Pulverizers are the answer for farm operators who need to cover a lot of ground...quickly. A unique folding mechanism reduces the transport width and height to a manageable size that will pass through restrictive bridges or down narrow roads. With its X-Fold configuration, Brillion is able to reduce transport height well below low-hanging utility wires or tree branches.

- Brillion 23 Ft. X-Fold With Scrapers $7,590.00
- Brillion 21 Ft. X-Fold With Scrapers $7,290.00

NEW P10 SERIES TRANSPORT CONCEPT

Brillion's transport concept is new to the industry. Machine weight is hydraulically rotated over the wheels for transport. This reduces drawbar hitch weight considerably and provides ample clearance for transporting.

- PDT 14 14 Ft. With Scrapers $3,490.00
- PDT 12 12 Ft. $2,990.00
